Some cigarettes may be banned

WASHINGTON — Richard O. Simpson, chairman of the governor's new Consumer Product Safety Commission, said Friday his agency may have the power to ban some cigarettes above a certain tar and nicotine level. "I conclude," he said, "that it is an open question as to whether or not the commission has such authority." He added that it may be determined that he has "not only the responsibility but the duty" to regulate cigarettes. Simpson, whose agency was created by Congress last year and began work May 14, first raised the issue Wednesday in Newark, N. J.

Don't insult Pluto

RIO DE JANEIRO — Pluto, the Walt Disney dog, is no joking matter in Brazil. Police began a campaign Friday against car stickers which cast doubt on Pluto's immediate ancestry. The stickers, in Portuguese, say: "Pluto is the son of Pluta," implying that Pluto was illigitimate. Security Police secretary Gen. Antonio da Costa said this sticker and others considered "immoral or harmful to good customs" would be confiscated. Motorists who did not remove them ran the risk of having their driver's license seized, he said.

Bombing mistake explained

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon said Friday the bombing of Neak Luong in Cambodia three weeks ago was an error due to a crewman on a B52 bomber failing to flip a switch that would have correctly guided the plane to it's target. Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said "corrective and disciplinary actions" are now underway. He said he did not know if the radar-navigator, whom he declined to name, would be court-martialed.

Fire fighters win battle

BOISE — The first firefighters were sent home Friday from an army of 10,000 men which battled and beat the worst outbreak of timber and range fires in western history. Some 340 men from Missouri, North Carolina, Alabama, South Dakota and New Mexico were demobilized in the Kootenai and Bitter Root National Forests in Montana, where they had fought fierce forest fires for more than a week.

Judge lifts controls on gas

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A federal judge Friday suspended Phase IV price controls for some 165,000 brand name retail gasoline dealers. He said the restraints, scheduled to go into effect next week, would force many gas stations out of business.

A short time later the Justice Department, acting for the Cost of Living Council which administers the controls, filed an emergency petition with the U. S. Court of Appeals here seeking an injunction against the lower court order while a full appeal is prepared.

Assistant attorney General Irving Jaffe said in the petition that the economic stabilization program would suffer "irreparable injury" if the controls were lifted prematurely.

An attorney for the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers, which filed a class action suit against the Phase IV controls, said the ruling was not expected to bring significant price increases. It also does not apply to independent dealers, who were not a party to the suit.

U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker ruled the Phase IV controls, which would force some dealers to rollback their prices, were "arbitrary and capricious." He noted gas stations are the only small businesses not exempt from price controls and the only group of retailers who cannot pass on wholesale price increases to their customers.

Parker said he had determined that a substantial number of service stations would "go out of business or otherwise sustain substantial and severe economic injury" under the controls.

The Phase IV regulations for the gasoline and oil industry a scheduled to replace the curren price freeze at 11:59 p.m. EDT Aug. 30. The Phase IV price ceiling on dealers would be determined by using the wholesale price of gasoline on Aug. 1 and adding the amount of profit markup charged last Jan. 1.

Although the markup could be no less than seven cents, the formula would force some dealers to rollback their prices.

Jerry S. Cohen, the dealers' attorney, said Parker's ruling would have "very little" effect on prices because dealers traditionally only pass along the increases in their wholesale prices. Competition also will keep the prices down, he added. He noted only a few wholesalers have raised their prices.

The CLC said it asked the Justice Department to appeal the ruling before both the temporary court and a regular appeals court. The temporary court was set up under the Economic Stabilization Act to handle the legal questions surrounding President Nixon's wage-price control program.

Narcotic agents indicted by jury

ALTON, Ill. (UPI) — A federal grand jury investigating a series of mistaken-identity drug raids Friday indicted eight federal and four local narcotics agents on charges of depriving 11 persons of their constitutional rights.

The 17-count indictment said the agents acted "without probable cause or search warrants" when they broke into six homes in Collinsville, East St. Louis and Edwardsville, Ill., during a five-day period last April.

Two occupants of the homes were assaulted while they were handcuffed and a third man was jailed for three days without being charged with a crime, the indictment charged.

Three of the agents later sought to cover up the incidents by trying to "tone down" reports to investigators, it said. Three of the agents also were charged with lying to the federal grand jury.

The agents were attached to the St. Louis office of Drug Abuse Law Enforcement (DALE). Six were from the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs (BNDD) and two from the Treasury Department. The local agents —three from the St. Louis police department and one from the East St. Louis police department —were on loan to DALE during the raids.

John R. Bartels Jr., acting administrator of the Drug Enforcement Administration, announced immediately after the indictments were returned that the six DALE agents were suspended without pay. Dismissal proceedings are pending.

Some of the raid victims have filed damage suits against the federal government.

The six indicted BNDD agents are William C. Dwyer, Kenneth R. Bloemker, Dennis R. Moriarity, Dennis Harker, Michael Hillebrand and Leon Phillips.

The Treasury agents are Tom Teyssier of the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau and Calvin Culp of the Internal Revenue Service. The St. Louis policemen are Ronald J. Olive, Donald W. Spicer and Daniel J. Duffy. The East St. Louis policeman is Lester Anderson.

Atlas (t), can't stop NOW

By United Press International

A group of feminists rallied in front of the statue of Atlas in New York's Rockefeller Center Friday and unfurled a banner reading "Atlas, you've held us up too long."

The protest against what they said was male dominated institutions was one of a series of demonstrations, parades and meetings to be held during the week to celebrate "Equal Rights Day" Sunday, the 53rd anniversary of the women's suffrage admendment to the Constitution.

The National Organization for Women, which is coordinating much of the activity across the country, said there will be a parade in St. Louis, a fair and ecumenical prayer in Philadelphia and a daylong seminar in Jackson, Miss., among other events during the weekend.

The group's active New York branch has been carrying out protest actions most of the week, including a demonstration Thursday at the New York Stock Exchange protesting "male domination of the Wall Street empire."

Friday's 30-minute demonstration at the Atlas statue attracted a noontime crowd of several hundred along Fifth Avenue across from St. Patrick's Cathedral. It included several skits including one entitled "Freud is a Fraud."

Laura Scharf, one of the demonstrators, said the action was in protest "of the sexual oppression of women by various male dominated institutions such as the church, medicine and psychiatry."

Gas stations may close

STROUDSBURG — Independent gas stations locally haven't decided whether or not to join the proposed nation-wide shutdown set for Labor Day weekend.

Called by the Pennsylvania Service Station Dealers Assn., (PSSDA) the strike will protest the limit of seven cents a gallon profit for service stations under federal Phase IV Guidelines.

The limit will go into effect on Friday, August 31.

PSSDA member Ray H. Bensley of Stroudsburg, does not plan to close unless he runs out of gas.

Other members who usually close their stations Sundays will remain closed but not in support of the strike.

Zovak's Sunoco owner Joseph Zovak said he hasn't received word of the strike from PSSDA. The Stroudsburg gas vendor does not know if he will join the shutdown.

Zovak said if dealers strike, it will be to protest governmental controls.

"The price freeze means if oil companies increase their prices, we can't," Zovak said.

"If the government can't balance their own budget," he added, "why should they try to balance mine?"

A salesman for Sun Oil Co. said he doesn't know if independents will close since a federal judge suspended the Phase IV price freeze for brand name dealers.

A spokesman for the Pennsylvania Petroleum Assn. a group of independents that "reluctantly" supports the strike, said they are not sure they will also file a suit.

G. Patrick O'Connor said Friday the association will analyze the suit by the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers and the subsequent court stay of the Phase IV freeze before acting.

A spokesman for Grace Oil Co., a member of the association, said they will continue to supply independents during the holiday weekend.

FBI burglarized embassies for 30 years

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The FBI was reported Friday to have carried out burglaries against foreign embassies for 30 years, apparently without the knowledge of anyone outside the agency, until J. Edgar Hoover halted the practice in 1966.

FBI sources confirmed the secret burglaries as an intelligence-gathering technique which began before World War II in the Roosevelt administration.

The FBI informants, however, refused to confirm a report in The New York Times that burglaries and other illegal activities were subsequently used in criminal cases and against organized crime figures.

The Times said the burglary practice was unknown to any attorney general throughout the 30-year period or to anyone else outside the FBI, which kept it a closely guarded secret.

President Nixon raised the issue at his San Clemente, Calif., news conference while commenting on the 1971 breakin at the Los Angeles office of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist by White House undercover agents.

While deploring the Ellsberg break-in, Nixon said national security burglaries occurred on a "very large scale" from 1961 to 1966, during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, and were "quite well known."

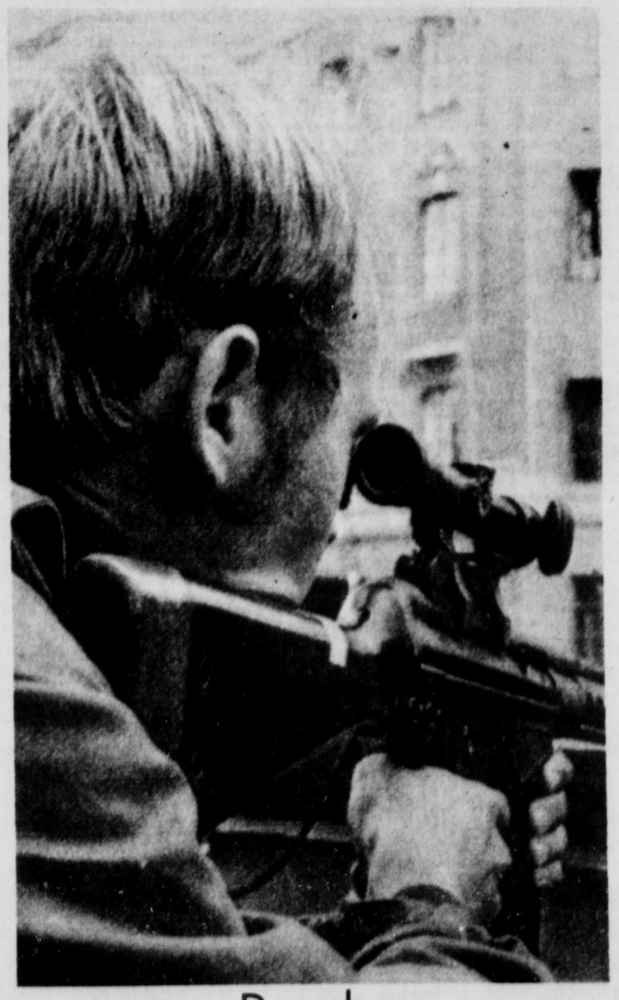

The White House refused to elaborate on Nixon's allegation, and two former Democratic attorneys general, Ramsey Clark and Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, said they were unaware of such burglaries during the 1960s.

But one FBI official who told UPI of the embassy burglaries said "they probably should have occurred, or how else would we have found out what was going on?"

He said the practice began in the "pre-World War II and the war years" under Roosevelt, when "intelligence was where you found it." He added that "we don't do it anymore."

The Washington Post said the purpose was to plant electronic listening devices in the embassies and to copy foreign cryptographic codes. The Los Angeles Times said the breakins or burglaries mostly involved Communist embassies and consulates, the U.S. Communist Party, the Japanese consulate in Seattle in the 1950s, and civil rights and militant leftist groups in the 1960s.

The New York Times said Hoover stopped the practice because it was too risky and because the benefits were for the National Security Agency, the top-secret intelligence gathering arm of the executive branch, and not for the FBI.

Secret Service drops complaint

Gaudet cleared in Nixon death plot

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —The Justice Department, acting on instructions from the Secret Service, Friday dropped federal charges against Edwin M. Gaudet Jr., a burly former New Orleans policeman accused of threatening President Nixon's life.

A U.S. magistrate in Albuquerque, N.M., where Gaudet surrendered Wednesday, officially threw out the charges.

"The U.S. attorney's office in New Orleans today dismissed the complaint filed Aug. 20 against Edwin Gaudet for having made an alleged oral threat against the life of President Nixon in a New Orleans drugstore on Aug. 15," U.S. Attorney Gerald Gallinghouse said.

Gallinghouse said the charges were dropped "because the woman witness who had made a previous identification of Gaudet as the man who made the threat said under oath this morning that she could not confirm her previous positive identification."

The witness was not identified.

Gaudet, 30, remained jailed in Albuquerque on state charges of aggravated assault on a police officer with intent to commit a violent felony. His bond was $10,000 on each of three counts.

Gaudet fled on foot into the rugged Sangre de Cristo Mountains from his commune home Monday when two federal officers arrived to arrest him while President Nixon was speaking to a veteran's convention in New Orleans.

The bearded former officer fired three shots from a rifle during his escape, but no one was injured. He eluded searchers for two days and the Secret Service called off its manhunt when Gaudet's wife, Judy, and a cousin said they could find him and bring him out without resistance.

He rode with them down a dusty road in a pickup truck later Wednesday and gave up.

When he surrendered, Gaudet blurted out: "The government is organized crime; the Pope is head of the Mafia, and I support Angela Davis for President."

The federal warrant reported Gaudet was overheard in the New Orleans drugstore saying: "Somebody ought to kill President Nixon. If no one has the guts, I'll do it."

Gaudet's wife had said she knew he could not have made the threat last week in New Orleans because he was living with her at the "Morning Star" commune at the time.

Secret Service agents Monday traced Gaudet—who was arrested three years ago for throwing a flaming American flag at Nixon's car in a New Orleans motorcade—to the commune in northern New Mexico, where he had been living for about a year.

The Secret Service has admitted previously there was no connection between Gaudet and a "possible conspiracy" against the President that caused cancelation of Nixon's motorcade on New Orleans's famed Canal Street last Monday.

HEW withholds $1 billion; Nixon opposes programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Health, Education and Welfare Department spent $1.8 billion less than Congress approved last year for social programs opposed by President Nixon, and plans to continue withholding funds this year.

Departmental briefing papers obtained Friday by UPI indicate that HEW has settled into a fiscal holding pattern on health, school aid and other forms of federal assistance until Congress takes the next step.

"Essentially what we are trying to do is to provide enough funds to permit states, localities and other recipients of HEW funds to maintain the staffs which administer these programs until final decisions are made," Acting HEW Comptroller Charles Miller said in a memorandum to Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger.

With Nixon under a series of court challenges for trying to suspend or dismantle programs he regards as wasteful and inflationary, HEW has taken a go-slow spending approach to these programs until Congress acts on the President's new $29.8 million request for HEW in fiscal 1973-74. The present House version of the bill totals $31.5 billion.

"Of course, for those programs where the President's budget requests a maintenance of effort equal to or greater than previous years, we will continue our past practice of making regular monthly or quarterly allocations of grant and contract funds," Miller wrote Weinberger.

Miller told UPI his department recently started providing some social program funds under a continuing resolution by which Congress approved spending at last year's level until a new appropriations bill is approved.

This means financing will vary from program to program, but in no case will it be higher for any program than it was in 1972-73.

HEW told the House Commerce Committee it withheld $1.1 billion —or nearly $1 out of every $4 authorized by Congress —for family planning, mental health, biomedical research and other health projects last year.

Included in the cutback was $59 million for the National Cancer Institute, a major presidential priority.

Get 'em while they're hot

U.S. pulling out troops, 100 planes from Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) —The United States will begin its military withdrawal from Thailand immediately by pulling out 3,550 servicemen and more than 100 planes from its seven airbases in the country, the two nations announced Friday.

The agreement on the size of the initial withdrawals was concluded at a meeting led by Maj. Gen. Thomas W. Mellen, chief of the American Military Assistance Command for Thailand, and Lt. Gen. Kriangsak Chamananda, deputy chief of staff of Thailand's Supreme Command.

"It was agreed that the U.S. would take immediate steps for an initial withdrawal of 3,550 U.S. military personnel from Thailand and also a reduction of more than 100 aircraft," their announcement said.

"Representatives of the two governments will continue to hold discussions with a view to agreeing on plans for further gradual reduction of the level of U.S. forces in Thailand, including strategic, tactical and support aircraft, while taking into consideration security requirements of Southeast Asia."

Another meeting to discuss further cutbacks was set for the first week of September.

The two nations agreed to the withdrawals following the end of the U.S. bombing campaign Aug. 15 in Cambodia, the last area of Indochina in which the United States was actively involved in fighting. Not all American servicemen or planes will be withdrawn, however, because of continuing U.S. commitments to Thailand under membership terms of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

The initial withdrawal announced Friday represents about 8 per cent of the 45,000 American servicemen in the country and about 20 per cent of the 500 planes, including B52 heavy bombers, that flew from Thailand on missions over Cambodia, Laos, South and North Vietnam.

The seven bases where they were stationed were built by the United States during the 1960s at a cost of $650 million.

Military sources said the first withdrawals likely would be from Takhli, a base for F4 Phantom tactical jets base about 100 miles north of Bangkok, and from Nam Phong, a base for Marine Corps Phantoms and A4 Skyhawks 240 miles northeast of the capital.

Interest rates increased

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The government Friday raised the interest rate ceiling on federally insured home mortgages to a record high of 8.5 per cent to help ease the tight money crunch that has forced many home buyers out of the market.

The new rate will take effect Saturday for mortgages up to $33,500 that are insured by the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration, Housing Secretary James T. Lynn said.

It was the second increase in federally insured mortgage ceilings in two weeks. The interest rate maximum was raised Aug. 10 from 7 per cent to 7-¾ per cent.

Harris C. Friedman, chief economist for the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, said preliminary figures indicate home mortgages being placed in August were averaging about 9 per cent. In some areas, such as Washington, D.C., the prevailing commercial mortgage rate this week was pushing 10 per cent.

"Mortgage lenders simply don't use FHA and VA mortgages at their present rate of 7.75 per cent," a HUD spokesman said.

Federal housing officials said they hoped the 8.5 per cent FHA and VA maximum would permit middle and low-income buyers to return to the housing market. But they could not predict the real impact of the new ceiling because of the higher and rapidly increasing rates being charged for conventional loans.

The new FHA and VA maximum rate matches the 8.5 per cent permitted between Jan. 4 and Dec. 1, 1970, when the housing market also was depressed.

Grocery bill mounts

Food jumps higher

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pushed primarily by another increase in farm prices, the annual rate cost of a typical family food basket rose 0.8 per cent, or $12, to a record $1,529 in July, an Agriculture Department report showed Friday.

The basket cost was up 15.8 per cent, or $208, from a year earlier and was up 14.3 per cent from December when the current food price boom began.

Converting the annual-rate figures to a weekly basis shows the basket cost in July equaling $29.21 a week, up 23 cents from June and $4 from July, 1972.

The July increase was only half as big as the jump posted in June before a short-lived wholesale and retail price freeze took effect June 13. Officials warned, however, that since the retail freeze was lifted July 18 for all foods but beef, the August market basket figures to be reported in September are expected to soar.

The report showed that of the $12 annual rate increase for July, $11 went to farmers as the annual rate farm value of foods in the market basket rose 1.5 per cent.

The farm products which were not subject to controls, went from $687 in June to $698 in July.

One dollar of the July retail increase went to middle men to cover costs and profits in handling, processing and retailing. Their total return from foods in the basket edged up 0.2 per cent, for an annual rate of $830 in June to $831 in July.

Compared with a year earlier, the farm value of food in the market basket was up 30.4 per cent, or $163 on an annual rate basis, while middle men's charges were up $45, or 5.8 per cent.

The market basket report covers a collection of U.S. produced farm foods needed for a hypothetical average household of 3.2 persons.

Agriculture Department officials, who report basic data from which newsmen calculate the basket cost, say the figures do not show what an actual family spends for food these days. But they say changes in the basket numbers furnish a good indication of what is happening to real grocery bills.

Leaders in Europe want Nixon to postpone visit

LONDON (UPI) —Diplomatic officials said Friday that European leaders, unprepared for summit talks, want President Nixon to postpone his planned European visit until next year.

Reports from Washington earlier this week that Nixon might visit Europe by the end of October met with a notably cool reception in European capitals. There was embarrassed official silence, but diplomatic officials left little doubt that the presidential visit would offer better prospects if it were put off at least until sometime next year.

The officials said the Europeans are in disarray and are not ready for crucial talks with the President which are intended to shape the future of the trans-Atlantic relationship, they said.

A premature start of vital negotiations on a new Atlantic Charter-type agreement could in their view do more harm than good. Another argument is that a few months delay might help smoothe over the damage done to the presidential image in Europe by the Watergate affair.

Foreign ministers of the European Common Market are to meet in Copenhagen next month when the advisibility of the Nixon visit and the entire complex of the future relationship with the United States are to be discussed.

At present the allies are divided on a whole range of foreign, economic and monetary problems and are above all far from having agreed on a joint foreign policy.

France is among the most reluctant European allies so far on the question of trans-Atlantic negotiations. The French are opposed above all to a European summit meeting with President Nixon on the grounds that there is no European position on the key issues under consideration and that no "European personality" has as yet been forged.

Power cutbacks ordered by AEC at nuclear plants

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) Friday ordered 10 nuclear power plants in various areas to limit their operations and cutback power levels pending further studies.

The commission said the action was taken "to provide additional assurance that the effects of fuel densification are taken into account in the operation of these plants."

An AEC spokesman said scientists discovered something new in the nuclear power process last year —one side effect of the operation is that the uranium oxide pellets in the fuel rods shrink (densify) somewhat.

The fuel rods are the heart of the power plant. When the pellets shrink, the heat in the atomic process is not transferred to cooling water as efficiently, and that narrows the safety margin in case of a cooling system failure.

The shrinking also causes some collapse of the fuel rods, but the major effect is on the cooling safety margin, the AEC said.

Friends of the Earth, an environmentalist group, asked the AEC on July 12 to order an emergency limitation on such power plants on grounds of potential harm to nearby areas. The AEC refused to take emergency action but announced Friday that operating limitations will be imposed until General Electric Co., which makes the reactors, can supply new data for evaluation by the commission's regulatory staff.

The temporary power level cutbacks at the 10 boiling water reactors will range from 5 to 25 per cent.

The plants affected by the order were: Boston Edison's Pilgrim Plant at Plymouth, Mass.; Commonwealth Edison Company's Dresden units 2 and 3 at Morris, Ill., and Quad Cities units 1 and 2 at Cordova, Ill.; Jersey Central Power and Light Company's Oyster Creek Plant at Toms River, N.J.; Millstone Point Company's Millstone unit 1 at Waterford, Conn.; Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation's Nine-Mile Point unit 1 at Scriba, N.Y.; Northern States Power Company's Monticello Plant at Monticello, Minn., and Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Corporation's plant at Vernon, Vt.

Shultz predicts astounding jump in wholesale prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz predicted Friday that wholesale prices would make "an astounding" jump in August but the overall inflation rate should cool in the months ahead.

"I believe we will see a diminishing rate of inflation once the bulge is behind us," Shultz told a meeting of the American Bankers Association.

The "bulge" to which he referred is the surge in prices that has occurred each time the government has lifted a portion of the freeze or otherwise relaxed its price control rules. The current explosion in wholesale prices has followed the lifting of the freeze on most of the food industry in mid-July and on the rest of the economy in mid-August.

It will show up officially on Sept. 7 when the Labor Department releases the wholesale price index for August.

Shultz also said natural gas prices should be allowed to rise "very substantially" to encourage domestic production.

Even with a higher price level, Shultz said, domestic gas could cost less than the imported variety.

A number of companies have signed agreements with gas producing nations for large-scale imports of natural gas to the United States, which would adversely affect the U.S. balance of payments, he said.

The treasury secretary said there was a "good possibility" that the economy would make a "reasonably soft landing at a rate of four per cent real growth." This would contrast with a growth rate of twice that figure in the fourth quarter of 1972 and the first quarter of 1972, and a small 2.4 per cent growth rate in the second quarter of this year.

As for the end of wage-price controls, Shultz said, "I don't know. Nobody knows."

Nixon aide denies news leaks

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) —A presidential spokesman Friday described as "absolutely, totally false" allegations that the White House was leaking damaging information on the criminal investigation of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said President Nixon called Agnew in Washington shortly after his news conference Wednesday to personally express his confidence in him and assure him of his support in finding and halting the leaks.

Warren vigorously denied that anybody in the White House had suggested that Agnew resign his post and said the President was confident Agnew's innocence would be established by the current investigation.

Nixon, at his news conference, said he had ordered Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson to investigate the source of the secret leaks and summarily fire any public official involved.

Students in Chile on protest rampage

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Riot police firing tear gas clashed Friday near the presidential palace with thousands of anti-government students who raced through downtown streets, smashing store windows.

Rampaging students demonstrating against the extension of school vacations set fire to barricades blockading eight-lane Bernardo O'Higgins Avenue. Several were injured and there were a number of arrests.

The unrest came as the government announced that President Salvador Allende would reshuffle his cabinet in the next few days in the aftermath of Gen. Carlos Prats' resignation as defense minister.

The student violence exploded outside the defense ministry and surged to within two blocks of the palace, where Allende was at his desk.

Many of the students wore bandana masks and construction worker hard hats and were armed with bamboo poles weighted with lead, lethal singshots, rocks and clubs.

They belonged to the Santiago High School Students Federation, which is controlled by opposition political groups.

The government had extended winter vacations until Monday due to a lack of buses in the nation's continuing transport crisis. The vacations had been scheduled to end two weeks ago.

Prats resigned Thursday night as minister and also as army commander because, he said, the wives of several army generals had demanded that he abandon both posts.

Murderess near parole

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Caril Ann Fugate, the companion of mass killer Charles Starkweather on an 11-murder rampage, moved a long step toward freedom Friday. The state Parole Board recommended commutation of her life sentence to pave the way for parole.

The Parole Board found that Miss Fugate, 30, who was 14 when she accompanied her boyfriend on the slaying spree in 1958, is "an acceptable risk for parole consideration." It recommended that the state Pardon Board commute the life sentence to a fixed number of years.

If the Pardon Board makes an affirmative decision, the Parole Board will then set the number of years and make a decision as to when parole will be granted.

Astronauts repair Skylab during lengthy space walk

HOUSTON (UPI) —The Skylab 2 astronauts during a spacewalk Friday hooked up a new set of gyroscopes to keep their orbiting ship on a steady course and reloaded film in their sun-watching cameras.

Rookie spaceman Jack R. Lousma unplugged six of the lab's nine little stabilization devices and hooked up a 22-foot long cable that conneced the fresh package of six gyros to the station's computer.

Owen K. Garriott, also a novice in spaceflight, floated out to Skylab's battery of sun studying instruments after Lousma returned, opened the cameras and stuck in new rolls of film while mission commander Alan L. Bean stayed inside to monitor the stabilization system during the repairs.

Bean told mission control the walk lasted four and a half hours. The hatch closed at 4:54 p.m. EDT as the station flew over the Atlantic Ocean out of contact with ground stations.

While Garriott plugged away at his part of the outside venture, Lousma babbled about his work and his view of the earth from 270 miles up.

"We can see the whole southern part of South America," he said. "You can see clear over to the Andes."

Bomb blast injures two

LONDON (UPI) —A bomb believed hidden inside a hollowed out book by the Irish Republican Army (IRA) exploded in an office on the 22nd floor of the London Stock Exchange Friday, injuring its chief administrative officer and disfiguring his young secretary.

It was the sixth day of bomb attacks in the capital attributed to the IRA.

The exchange's secretary general, George W. Brind, 62, suffered only minor injuries from the bomb, which exploded with the force of a hand grenade. But his 25-year-old secretary, Joanna Knight, was disfigured with multiple injuries to her face, chest, arms and legs, police said.

Trade surplus

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Commerce Department Friday reported a $106 million trade surplus in July, the second monthly surplus since the start of 1973 and a strong indication the United States' trade account was improving.

FBI made own lock-picking tools

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI) —FBI agents used to make their own lock-picking devices and practice using them in a classroom equipped with grinding wheels in the attic of the Justice Department building, a former agent said Friday.

William W. Turner, 46, an FBI agent from 1951 to 1961 who said he engaged in about a dozen illegal "black bag jobs" during his career, said "burglary was a common investigative technique."

He said he acted as a lookout during the burglary of the Japanese consulate in Seattle in 1957, broke into the Seattle homes of a local Communist party leader and a suspected Soviet spy, and once made an "unauthorized" break-in in a theft case.

Turner, who was fired in 1961 after writing Congress asking for an investigation of the agency, has been a frequent critic of the FBI, writing a book titled "Hoover's FBI" and three critical magazine articles on it. He is a licensed private investigator and freelance writer living in this San Francisco suburb.

"Only certain guys were involved in black bag operations," he said, "and they were normally approved by Washington, although never explicity or in writing. The local agent-in-charge or supervisor had to justify them. It was not promiscuous; you couldn't get approval for something minor."

Turner said he acted as a lookout in the break-in at the Japanese consulate by the FBI's "number one burglary," George Burley, who is still with the agency in Washington, D.C.

"We had an operation to crack the safe and it took several hours in the dead of night," Turner said. He said Burley used a "cobalt X-ray" device to determine the combination of the safe.

The FBI in Seattle confirmed that Turner worked out of that office, but a spokesman had "no comment" on the burglary reports. The Japanese Consulate said it was checking its records concerning a burglary in 1957.

The former agent said he was trained in wiretapping and bugging in 1958 and took a class in surreptious entry at the same time.

Comic strips

By NORMAN LEHDE

All those people (and it would include a great number of us) who were once criticized for wasting their time on "comic strips" may now lift their heads high—for the early comics are, like silent movies, being rediscovered as a distinctive art form.

In recent months a number of books and articles have appeared featuring reporductions of old comic strips and containing learned comment on their relationship to the American scene. (In fact, reproductions are even appearing of those comic books that had to be so carefully hidden from parents and teachers that they were usually explored only behind the barn or woodshed. However, we will leave comment on these to the Supreme Court).

Even at best, comics didn't rate very highly with parents and educators. We even remember parents who seized the comic section out of the Sunday paper before it could, in their opinion, pervert young minds with such bad examples of juvenile disrespect for authority as "Buster Brown" and "The Katzenjammer Kids."

Now, we are told that there were elements of great art (as we always suspected) in Fred Opper's "Happy Hooligan" and George Herriman's "Krazy Kat." We learn there were hidden social comments in Rube Goldberg's "Boob McNutt", Milt Gross' "County Screwloose of Tooloose" and George McManus' "Bringing Up Father." We are minded of political guidelines in Harold Grey's "Orphan Annie," Al Capp's "Little Abner," Chester Gould's "Dick Tracy" and Walter Kelly's "Pogo."

One can now enter a school library and find Schultz's "Peanuts" family utilized in explaining library procedure. A cartoonist, Walt Disney, has come to represent a child's world, untouched by natural sin. Another cartoonist, Herbert Block, is generally acclaimed as the number one despoiler breakfast at the White House, or at least he was before Watergate.

Now almost forgotten faces of the comic page are being recalled: "Little Jimmy," "Mutt and Jeff," "Desperate Ambrose," "Popeye," "Abie the Agent," "Polly and Her Pals." Who would have thought those carefree moments of a time of youth that we were warned was being misspent, would someday make us authorities on a segment of American culture?

G-D-S fair departs from past rules

NEWFOUNDLAND — A departure from the past regulations for the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair has been announced by Carroll Krautter, president of the fair.

This year, instead of taking registrations for exhibits on Wednesday, the entries will be received on Tuesday, Aug. 28, the first day of the fair. This will mean an "extra" fair day full of activity.

The fair had formerly opened during the evening on Tuesday and for the first full day on Wednesday.

To further save time, entry blanks, except for livestock, may be mailed to Carroll Fetherman, Newfoundland, on or before Monday, Aug. 27, so that entry tags can be readied.

Regular entries will begin at 10 a.m. Tuesday and will continue to be taken until 7 p.m. on that same day.

All entries are free. All fruits, grains, vegetables, flowers must have been grown by the exhibitor, and fancy work, baked goods and similar items must have been made by the exhibitor who may enter no more than one exhibit for competition in any one class except cattle and poultry.

The exhibits will be judged from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 29. The vocational and 4-H Cattle Show will be held at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, with the pony show scheduled for 5 p.m. that day.

Thursday's feature is the dairy show and judging which will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Friday's events include a horse show at 8:30 a.m., continuing throughout the day; sheep, beef and swine judging at 10 a.m.; payment of premiums from 1 to 3 and 6 to 8 p.m.; and garden tractor pulling at 7 p.m.

On Saturday, the special dinner for octogenarians and golden wedding couples begins at 12:30 p.m. Tractor pulling will also begin at that same time. The baby parade will begin at 4 p.m.; horse pulling of heavy and light teams will begin at 5 p.m.; and a farm crops auction is scheduled for 9 p.m.

Dog training exhibition set for today

SOUTH STERLING — The Trak Search and Rescue Team that has participated in more than 150 search and rescue operations will be at the Driftwood Pet Shoppe, Pocono Fair Restaurant and Mall, Rte. 191, South Sterling, today.

The program will be held from 10 a.m. to approximately 6 p.m.

Joe Zawada of Trak Dog Training Products Inc. will demonstrate various dog training methods. Zawada is recognized as one of the country's foremost dog trainers.

There will be field (hunting dog) demonstrations, water retrieving demonstrations, obedience work, advance hurdle and obstacle work, and a trained guard dog defense exhibition.

Trak staff dog trainers will conduct a question and answer session with interested persons. There will be no charge for this service.

Buying a homesite is a serious investment . . . one you are going to want to live with for a long time. Don't let giveaways and freebies sway you. Compare before you buy.

At Tanglwood, you won't get dishes or a wig or a radio or the like. All you'll get is the opportunity to invest in the Poconos' finest homesite land.

Why's Tanglwood your best investment? Many reasons. Our four-season community is on Lake Wallenpaupack, Pennsylvania's largest inland lake with 52 miles of shoreline, which means the entire spectrum of aqua fun and sport is yours to enjoy. Tanglwood offers a choice of lakefront, lakeview and fairway homesites — with water lines and fire hydrants to all lots. We have our own Fazio-designed championship golf course, our own full-facilities marina and private beach area on 'the big lake,' and seven miles from the development, our own major Eastern ski area on Paper Birch Mountain. Tanglwood also adjoins 18,000 acres of game lands for the state's best hunting and fishing. And these are just some of the reasons.

Another important consideration when investing in Pocono land is the developers. Tanglwood developers are businessmen with established and respected reputations. They are men who, with their families, have long enjoyed the beauty and recreational facilities of the Poconos, and who intend to personally enjoy them for many years to come. They are totally committed to long-range maintenance and conservation of Tanglwood's land, waters and properties.

Go ahead, take the giveaways. But don't fall into the trap of thinking that gimmicks are synonymous with value. See Tanglwood before you invest. You owe it to yourself.

Agnew's small staff Indians whom nobody knows

By DONALD R. LARRABEE
Ottaway News Service
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Vice President Spiro Agnew, unlike President Nixon, has a staff that almost nobody knows. Mr. Nixon may be in hot water these days because of too many chiefs. Mrs. Agnew has nothing but Indians.

The Agnew staff is devoted to the "boss" but exerts little of the power to run the government — or the political clout — of the presidential staff.

While this is in the nature of things for U.S. Vice Presidents, and those around them, it also fits Spiro Agnew's personality to have a staff without "czars," people who are accountable within the system and labor anonymously.

The Agnew staff is surprisingly small — about 30 persons — including those who serve him in his Senate office as well as the larger group in the downtown suite at the Executive Office Building next to the White House.

The top aide, chief of staff, is 45-year-old Art Sohmer who has been with Agnew since his campaign for Governor of Maryland. Iowa-born, he is described by associates as "indefatigable." Sohmer understands the Vice President intimately, functions as an alter ego and mixes his instructions to other staffers with a good sense of humor.

Number two man is Maj. Gen. John M. Dunn, 48, assistant for military and foreign affairs, who came with Agnew as his military aide early in 1969. He has degrees from Princeton and Harvard, is considered a good organizer, quick and personable, and has excellent contacts all over town. When Agnew and Sohmer are traveling, General Dunn is in charge.

He has a foreign service officer, and four military officers assisting him with briefings for the Vice President, as well as for ceremonial functions.

Agnew's research assistant is a 40-year-old University of Maryland political scientist, Miss Jean Spencer who heads a staff of three in collecting and correlating resource materials.

The Vice President's assistant for domestic affairs is C.D. Ward, former general counsel with the National Association of Counties. Oklahoman Ward, who is 43, is Agnew's principal contact with public interest groups and elected officials.

The chief speech writer is John R. Coyne, Jr., native of Bangor, Me., on leave from a journalism teaching post at the Arizona State University. The press secretary, and the one man who has surfaced because of Mr. Agnew's current difficulties with the Law, is Marsh Thomson of Minneapolis who took the job about six months ago after two years on the staff of the Office of Intergovernmental Relations.

Thomson, interviewed the morning after the news broke that the Vice President was under investigation by a Federal grand jury, seemed unhurried, unruffled and thinking far into the future, as if the dark cloud had not appeared. He was as cool as his boss.

"We have a man here who needs to be understood more broadly for what he is," said Thomson. "If I can contribute to his being more widely understood, if I can help dispel some of the stereotypes floating around about him, I'll be satisfied.

"Right now," Thomson continued, "he's very consciously trying to be a moderate in the way he expresses himself and he wants to help the Nixon Administration to be as open as possible and to get rid of some of the hedging and qualifying. I hope we've made some headway on that. It's important."

The next day, Agnew went on nationwide television with a strong denial of any wrong-doing. Comparisons with the President's accessibility, or lack of it, were inevitable but Agnew was doing his thing, in his own way, and the Vice President's staff found it to be entirely in character.

The Pocono Record

Walkers become traffic hazard

A Pocono vacationer had walked with his wife to buy a pizza to take to their four kids at the motel. It was dark as they headed back along the highway. The driver of the car didn't see them until it was too late.

The tragedy must be the fault of the pedestrian, a city man used to sidewalks, wearing dark clothing, walking on the right side of the highway in the same direction as traffic.

It is hard to reach these visitors with The Pocono Record. A few hundred buy our paper at newsstands but thousands are among us each day through the summer. The immediate tragic lesson can't be pounded home to those who need it most.

Hopefully, however, the rest of us can gain a little from the loss. A major rule is to walk to the left facing traffic so when a car approaches a walker can slant well off onto the shoulder . . . and always walk single file so there's no need to domino through others to safety.

A major burden has to be on drivers, these summer times especially. The theory is to drive carefully and be as alert as possible for an emergency. The problem is that all people — drivers or pedestrians — aren't as smart as you.

Allow for the mistakes of others and they won't happen as often.

State of liquor

Though we'll all take a government subsidy when we can't afford what we want (whether it be an arts center or a sewer system) the natural tendency for Americans is to favor free enterprise.

Thus the suspicion is that a poll would show most Pennsylvanians would like to see the state get out of the liquor business and let ma and pa or even the Mafia take over. One obvious hope for those who patronize is that prices would then come down to the competitive level of neighborhood stores in neighboring states like New York, New Jersey and the District of Columbia. Especially D.C. which Congress regulates. And because Congress drinks, the tax is low and the price lower.

There's a difference of opinion here. Liquor is a generally detrimental luxury that is and should be taxed heavily. There may be scandals on the Control Board and payoffs connected with the franchise of lines of booze to be sold in state stores. It's at least as bad in states where individuals need a license to dispense.

Our stores may seem at times to be overstaffed but they remain impersonal and efficient. And the presumption is that Pennsylvania profits more from what it sells than our neighbors. That is how it should stay.

It's fair weather

It is about time to go to the fair. The real fair, that is. Summer is getting loaded with "fairs" that include high-priced acts to tinsel accompaniment and cheap midways. Finally as the nights chill, the fair folks rejoice.

The Blue Valley Farm Show has been a start then comes the treasured West End Fair at Gilbert and with it the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Fair. These are the people-to-people meetings that are, thankfully, having a revival in popularity.

Viewing the success of country fairs in the last few years can restore faith in people — the ones who attend and especially the ones who make them happen.

'Of course, that doesn't include the evidence'

Roscoe Drummond

Keeping peace

WASHINGTON — One overriding fact and an overriding question flow from ending the bombing in Cambodia.

Question: How can we keep it that way?

Wishful thinking won't do it, and it is wishful thinking to assume that the danger of unwanted involvement will be greatly reduced if Congress will only pass a law which says the United States must not get involved in any war without the approval of Congress.

I offer this central and fundamental premise: The best way to keep out of war is to keep war from breaking out. This means that the United States must exert its leadership, its influence and its power to build a stable world order. We can't be the world's lone policeman, but there must be a collective deterrent to war or war will continue to be, for some, an attractive course.

If we can't stop the world and get off, then we must do more than ever to help lay the building blocks of a better peace. Much is being done. This is the road, and it is the only road, away from war.

We cannot legislate noninvolvement in war. We passed a "neutrality act" in the late Thirties to keep out of World War II, and shortly thereafter we were in World War II.

Now the slogan is "No More Vietnams," and the theory is that if Congress can somehow limit the authority of the Commander - in - Chief in his use of American military forces abroad this will be one way to ensure no more Vietnams.

It won't.

No President — as Harry Truman did in Korea and as John Kennedy did in Vietnam — should put the United States into war without the earliest possible consent of Congress. But there is no evidence whatsoever that circumstances which caused President Truman to go to the defense of South Korea would not have caused Congress to approve his action if he had taken the decision to Congress. Sen. Robert Taft said so many times.

And after President Lyndon Johnson succeeded John Kennedy, he asked Congress to approve his military actions in Southeast Asia, and Congress authorized him to "take all necessary measures" to defend the Southeast Asian nations. This resolution passed the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees 30 to 1. It passed the House Foreign Affairs Committee 30 to 1. It passed the House 414 to 0 and the Senate 88 to 2.

It will be all to the good for Congress to affirm its sense that a President should not use U.S. armed force anywhere in the world without taking the decision to Congress as rapidly as possible. But Congress cannot amend the constitutional powers of the Commander - in - Chief by legislation. It is, therefore, inviting a presidential veto to try to do so.

If Congress affirms its intent, without attempting to circumscribe a President's constitutional authority, I would have no doubt that President Nixon will make it equally clear that his intent is the same: namely, not to involve the United States in any war without congressional participation.

But it needs to be clear that ensuring congressional participation in the warmaking process will not ensure that there will be no warmaking. Congress was more warlike than President Woodrow Wilson, and every military measure taken by Presidents Johnson and Nixon had congressional authorization.

The outlook is not at all gloomy. The war in Vietnam is ending. The truce in the Middle East appears to be holding and Egypt's President Anwar Sadat is showing no inclination to resume the fighting with Israel.

More has been done during the last four years to dissolve many of the causes of the cold war in Europe than at any time since the end of World War II.

It may well be that in this last quarter of the 20th century the responsible leaders of the world have come to see that war is just too stupid to be used or to be tolerated. This seems to be the premise of the Brezhnev - Nixon summits and Chou En-Lai-Nixon summit.

The premise seems to be that the best way to keep out of war is to keep war from breaking out.

Jack Anderson

Capitol Hill warriors

WASHINGTON — Those who seek reasons why the Congress traditionally displays a permissive attitude toward the Pentagon need look no further than the lawmakers' military status. At last count, 108 senators and representatives — including Speaker of the House Carl Albert, D-Okla. — hold some sort of reserve commission.

This formidable band of active, inactive and retired weekend warriors often provides valuable, if not valiant, service when the time comes for the Pentagon's annual battle of the budget. Consider some of the more staggering conflicts of interest:

— Seven senators on the 16-member Armed Services Committee are active, inactive or retired reservists. Senator Howard Cannon, D-Nev., for example, is a former major general in the Air Force Reserve and draws $718.77 per month in retirement pay. At the same time, he heads two subcommittees — one on the national stockpile and naval petroleum reserves and another on tactical air power. Tom McIntyre, D-N.H., a retired major in the Army Reserve, runs the subcommittee on research and development.

10 on Armed Services

— Ten members of the House Armed Services Committee are, or were, reservists. Clark Fisher, D-Tex., a retired lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve, is a subcommittee chairman.

— Ten reservist congressmen are on the House Appropriations Committee and five of them are members of the subcommittee on defense. Robert Sikes, D-Fla., a retired major general in the Army Reserve, heads the subcommittee on military construction.

— Nine members of the House Committee on Veterans' Affairs are reservists. The chairman of the Senate Veterans' Committee is also a retired reservist. He is Vance Hartke, D-Ind., formerly a lieutenant in the Naval Reserve. Two other members of Hartke's committee, Tom Stafford, R-Vt., and Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., are also reservists. Indeed, Thurmond pulls down a healthy $5,762 a year as a retired Army Reserve major general.

— Prizes for the most ironic conflicts go to Senators Cannon and Edward Brooke, R-Mass., a retired captain in the Army Reserve who is also a member of the defense appropriations subcommittee. Both are on the Senate Ethics Committee.

Celebrated case

The military is careful to take care of its Capitol Hill warriors. In one celebrated case, a decade ago, a congressman who had been a Navy enlisted man was suddenly knighted as an Air Force Reserve major. With 15 days of training, he became qualified as an ICBM launch officer.

More recently, we probed the military records of Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., who is a Coast Guard reserve officer, and found that he was getting retirement and promotion credits when he lectured Sea Scouts, for example. He also got reserve credits when he conducted subcommittee hearings on oceanography and again when he met with a group of fishermen to discuss "lobster problems."

According to the Constitution, a congressman must not serve two masters. Article Six provides that "no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office."

Back in the days when Congress took the Constitution seriously, a Senator Lane from Kansas was ejected from office for accepting a reserve commission in the Union army. If today's legislators were as strict as their predecessors, more than one-fifth of the 93rd Congress would be looking for new jobs. But Congress legitimatized the lawmaker-soldier with a special law in 1956.

'Double-dippers'

The laws were further relaxed in 1964 with the "Dual Compensation Act," which permits federal employes who are retired reservists to collect both their second-career salaries and their military pensions. Such persons are known in the federal bureaucracy as "double-dippers"; according to the National Taxpayers Union, there are at least 100,000 on the public payroll.

Fifteen members of Congress qualify as double-dippers led by Speaker Albert, a retired Army Reserve colonel. The diminutive Oklahoman, now known by some as the "Big Dipper," draws a combined salary and pension of $66,270.

Others include Sens. Cannon and Thurmond; Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a retired major general in the Air Force Reserve, who gets $6,552 in retirement pay and $42,500 in salary; Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, a retired Air Force colonel who pulls down a $4,872 pension; Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Tex., a retired captain in the Naval Reserve, who receives a pension of $5,210; and Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., another Naval Reserve captain, who gets $1,806 in retirement pay but donates it all to charity.

Stories Behind Words

By William Penfield

Cereal

The word "cereal," which denotes grain used as food, is derived from the name of a Roman goddess.

Ceres was worshipped as the protector of crops, especially grain. The men who looked after her temple also were in charge of the grain market.

The Romans celebrated the Cerealia, a festival in honor of Ceres. During the festival the first cuttings of grain were sacrificed to her, to insure a good crop.

From "cerealia" — a Latin word meaning of, or pertaining to, Ceres — came the English word "cereal."

Price of friendship

The last time I saw Howard, he was still on the barstool. The red leather cushion is busted; gray cotton sticks out like a blind eye. Howard, too, is older, and busted. The once plump face wears shiny skin over caverns. The tight orange curly hair has retreated to the back of his neck.

When I see Howard, I buy him a beer and think of an old funeral. He was the Lenny of our neighborhood. When he was growing up, he played enough second base to make a semi - pro team, but he had a weakness for swinging at a pitch in the dirt. He was never guilty of an original thought.

Champ mooch

He was good at darts, shuffleboard, and mooching one more beer. If Howard had a hero, it was Babe Davis. The Babe was the big talker of our neighborhood. He was as small as a bowl of pretzels, and as salty. He often told us how, some day, he would be a millionaire.

After supper, Babe solved all the problems of the world in Hanrahan's Tavern. His face was pinched thin, as though it had been caught in an elevator door. But his voice was deep and incessant.

His gods were men like Sanuel Insull, Charles Ponzi and Richard Whitney — those who had tried to beat the system. Babe told us, in enormous detail, where these men had gone wrong. Some of us drifted away. It was Howard who listened, who believed.

Babe Davis profited by the mistakes of others. He invented as many as three notions a night on how to become a millionaire. One time he would invent sleeves for airplane wheels so that the air stream would make them turn before they hit concrete runways — thus saving rubber. Another of his wizard ideas was to have highways make of moving treadmills; cars could get on and proceed at the same pace — no wrecks, no use of gasoline.

As the years passed, Howard drew closer and closer to Babe; the rest of us reserved stools up around the elbow of the bar. It was obvious that Babe was plotting harder and harder for that first million. Sadly, he couldn't hold down a job in a factory. The work demeaned his talent. It stultified his genius. Howard, of course, had no trouble concentrating on the simple things. He earned a modest salary watching an array of soda bottles move on a conveyor belt to be capped.

Both were over 40 when Babe Davis decided that the big bankroll was beyond his reach. At a time unknown to me, he settled for less. He approached Howard with a magazine advertisement which stated that anyone could be insured for $1,000 without a physical examination.

Babe explained that a thousand was somewhat short of a million, but it was something. Why, he asked, couldn't they insure each other? The one who survived would have a small fortune in cash. Howard pumped the thought through his empty head, and nodded. Why not indeed? Both were still single; both had no ties except free meals and a bed at home; both had been insured long ago by their parents. A thousand would be velvet for the survivor.

It was done. The premiums were small, but insistent. Howard still felt a deep respect for Babe, but Davis became suspicious of the pink cheeks and sparkling eyes of Howard. Somehow, the Babe was going to have to hurry his buddy on to his eternal reward.

I never had evidence that Babe did anything to accelerate Howard's demise. Hanrahan's was full of rumors which were whispered up and down the bar. The two men had been paying premiums for 11 years. Except for increasing baldness, Howard looked like a man who would grow old on the same barstool.

Babe Davis treated his pal to a pint of gin, and laced it with powdered glass. Howard didn't die. He complained of food poisoning. In the dead of winter, in a blizzard, Babe got Howard sodden drunk and dumped him in a snowbank at 2 a.m. Howard sustained a bad cold. They hitched a ride on a freight train to Philadelphia and Babe accidentally bumped Howard off as the cars rocketed through New Brunswick. Result: a week in a hospital and eight stitches.

Killer was costly

Desperate, Babe paid a thug $10 to pick a fight with Howard and bounce him off a stone wall. Nothing. Davis tried to hire a thug to kill Howard, but the torpedo asked for more than the $1,000 insurance policy. Dumb Howard went on living. Some of us watched the drama in silence. It was Babe Davis who was caught in a cold rain and developed pneumonia. He tried to shrug it off, but it shrugged him off. He died. Some of us attended the funeral.

Howard was due to get $1,000, but he didn't care about money. At the grave, he sobbed for Babe Davis. I asked why. "Because," he said, "no guy ever had a better friend." . . .

On being over 39

Legal points

(Editor's Note: This weekly series in the interest of citizens "over 39" in Lehigh, Northampton, Carbon and Monroe counties is sponsored by the L.V. Community Council through the Greater L.V. Senior Citizens Committee.)

Two very important points for anyone "over 39" to remember in regard to emergencies, as discussed last week, are to arrange for all property and assets to be in "joint tenant" ownership and for each person to have a will.

Perhaps the first thing to consider is the matter of "joint tenants with right to survivorship."

In Pennsylvania, a husband and wife have better than average rights in this matter, a Lehigh Valley lawyer points out.

Even if a couple has very little property or income or savings the smart thing (the saving thing) is to place it in an account of "John AND Mary Jones" or of "John OR Mary Jones."

Under the law there is a difference between AND and OR!

If your savings or checking account or investments are in the name of John AND Mary Jones you both will have to sign to make withdrawls. If your savings, checking and investments are in the name of John OR Mary Jones either one of you can withdraw at any time. This is handier.

But in both cases, if one of you dies the other can draw all of the money in the accounts and PAY NO INHERITANCE TAX. This is a valuable saving both in time and money. Needless to say, if your family assets are in the sole name of the person who died, the survivor must pay inheritance tax.

However, if either one of you expects to die soon, don't depend on this plan. The law says that if either of you die within two years after either of these plans is started, you, the survivor, still will have to pay inheritance tax. Pennsylvania law figures you have definitely been trying to avoid taxes.

Also keep this in mind — while a father and son or even friends may have joint accounts, at the death of one of them the other still will be able to collect all of the account. However, the survivor must pay tax on one-half.

A husband and wife may well ask, "Why bother with a will if we have joint ownership?"

But let us not forget that many people die in a common disaster — which may be an accident or just a common illness. And if you do not especially "go" for the idea of the joint checking, savings and home ownership account, then a will is especially necessary.

Note this — if you have no will your "spouse" — husband or wife — gets ALL your estate ONLY if there are NO children, parents, brothers, sisters, nieces, nephews, grandparents, uncles or aunts. If there is one child he or she gets half and the spouse gets the other half. If there are two or more children (or grandchildren) then the spouse gets only one-third of the estate. Each child, by the way, gets the same amount.

Therefore, have a will so that you can make the arrangements you prefer. Probably you will want your wife or husband to have the entire estate in her or his lifetime. If you have a child that is a problem you may want to make some special additional arrangement for him or her.

You can, of course, draw your own will. If it is legible, properly dated, witnessed and signed it will be acceptable for probate. But keep in mind that it is very easy to forget or be unaware of some legal necessity in the will. A lawyer will not cost much for a simple will and he will be good insurance for a properly drawn will.

Remember that the above information on wills is based solely on a husbnd and wife relationship where the assets are small. If considerable property is involved a lawyer is an absolute necessity due to the far more complicated details.

In any case, both husband and wife should have similar wills. Even though she has no property to speak of, she will have it if the husband dies first as usually is the case, according to insurance statistics.

Remember joint right of survivorship and wills!

Youth's community

Cameras help communities

By TOM SHEPSTONE

In past columns, we've talked about various ways that youth groups can play a hand in helping to clean up certain parts of their community and in preserving its finer points. From time to time we've indicated that camera clubs or other youth groups could play a large role in proving environmental needs by making photographic records of their community's good and bad points. Today lets look at photography in itself as a mechanism for improving communities.

Why photography? Well, perhaps the cliche "A picture is worth a thousand words!" is overused but it still seems to offer the best explanation. There are few adjectives in the English language that can truly describe the awesomeness of the Delaware Water Gap or the ugliness of a strip mine culm pile. Slides and movies are without a doubt two of the best techniques we have for telling the environmental story. How can we, though, make the best use of these tools?

One of the best answers we can give is to tell you of a new publication by Eastman Kodak which shows some of the best examples of photography in action across the country. This booklet is entitled "Improve Your Environment - Fight Pollution With Pictures." In it are the stories of many individuals and groups involved in their communities along with some of the photography that make them successfull.

For example, one Boy's Club in Colorado launched a program to fight vandalism in their city. As part of their project they make a slide show depicting some of the damage by vandalism in the community and what it cost taxpayers. After presenting this slide show to several schools and organization, the club received notice from public officials that vandalism had in fact decreased. Here is an excellent project for an Explorer's Law Enforcement Club. It is a chance for the majority of youth who care about their community to prove how small that minority which vandalizes and destroys really is.

Awareness is also the key to the photography possibilities we mentioned in connection with protecting open spaces, scenic areas and historical points of interest. Unless people know of these things, can see them with their own eyes, how can we expect them to approve measures to protect them?

Once again it proves our point that pictures are valuable aids in making a community improvement project successful. Eastman Kodak's publication can help you fit photography into your group's efforts and make cameras help communities. For more information call 421 - 2600.

Cultural centers available

By JUDITH GELBER

Many communities across the country are missing out on cultural and entertainment centers in the belief that there are no funds available to build such centers. But it has apparently escaped notice that most towns already have ready - made facilities — the public school auditoriums.

At first blush, the idea of utilizing school auditoriums for community - wide concerts, recitals, lectures, special films. dramas, comedies, puppet shows, country music festivals and the like may seem like an intrusion upon the educational process. These auditoriums are meant to be used for school or school - related functions, or occasionally for charity fund - raising events.

However, if a school auditorium may be placed at the disposal of a nonprofit organization unrelated to education, then surely the schools may be used by the community for educational, entertainment and cultural purposes. Besides, in fact and in theory the schools are built and paid for by the citizens of the school districts.

A group of people would be needed to coordinate and make arrangements for these events and to sound out the community on the type of happenings they would like, on a regular basis. But there would be no need for any kind of administrative bureaucracy or salaried employes.

Each event could be planned as a separate occasion. Admission fees would be based on anticipated expenses for performer's fees, auditorium use, custodial help, security, etc. And the organizational work could be done by civic - minded citizens who now perform these services, without pay, for the private fraternal and service organizations to which they belong.

I do believe that it is realistic to expect average citizens to gather together in an effort to provide cultural and entertainment events that would benefit an entire community. Indeed, such joining together for mutual pleasure could recreate the spirit of community awareness and self - help that is so sadly lacking in our lives today.

At this stage of the summer vacation many parents who normally object to the high cost of running the schools are probably beginning to think that our public educational system is a bargain!

When we compare our school tax bill, no matter how sky - high the amount may seem, with the cost of summer camp, the expense of a simple trip away from home, and the over - all price of keeping the kids happy and occupied throughout the summer, we may begin to appreciate the relatively minor expense of educating our children.

I also believe that the youngsters themselves are just about ready to give up on the pleasures of having nothing to do for the regular school routine, no matter how much they protest the imminent re - opening of the schoolhouse doors. Dear little schoolhouse, you are not such a bad place after all!

Hints on how to save fuel

By GAIL NEVINS

STROUDSBURG — Fuel for thought. Simply by setting thermostats two degrees higher in summer and two degrees lower in winter, this country could save 600,000 barrels of oil by the end of seven years.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss (D-Wis.) noted that 76 to 78 degrees were perfectly acceptable temperatures for summer living rather than the more common 74 (and often lower) encountered so frequently in stores and offices.

.....

According to Business Week several public carriers have taken realistic measures to conserve fuel this summer while not altering or greatly affecting their functioning.

It was reported that some airlines have slowed speeds and that the Penn Central has cut service on secondary freight lines. Greyhound, the magazine revealed, has tightened its "standard fuel conservation program," though no details were given.

.....

While FOE has been recognized for years as the acronym for Friends of the Earth, it could just as well stand for Friends of Free Enterprise. In an effort to protect a free market FOE recently asked the Justice Department to investigate possible anti-trust violations in a proposed joint project by General Electric and Exxon corporations.

FOE believes that the proposal — to build the first privately owned fuel enrichment plant in the United States — would allow Exxon to control too many raw energy sources and "further compromise what slight free market pressures might still exist in America's energy industry."

.....

In a statement by the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources, it was reported that radiation levels in the commonwealth were higher than normal last month as the result of a Chinese nuclear test.

According to DER, levels of radioactivity increased about two pico - curies per cubic meter, about 10 times the normal level.

While enthusiastic football fans might think that 2,4,5-T might be an intricate play on the gridiron, gardeners know differently. It is actually a controversial weed and brush killer which has been accused by some as a cause of cancer and birth deformities in humans. It will be the subject of Congressional hearings next April.

Any persons or groups that which to testify at those proceedings regarding 2,4,5-T should contact the Hearing Clerk, Environmental Protection Agency, Waterside Mall, Washington, D.C. 20460 for information on how to participate.

It seems that the American side of Niagara Falls is in for a little plastic surgery in the near future and the folks who are planning the work want to know your opinion. How about that!

The American Falls International Board has even published a booklet showing the falls in its present state and how it would look after the proposed changes; all aimed at helping you make your decision regarding the American landmark.

A card asking for your opinion is enclosed with the booklet. For your copy write to: American Falls International Board, 1776 Niagara St., Buffalo, N.Y. 14207

Albert-Marsh rites held in Cherry Valley

PEN ARGYL — The Cherry Valley United Methodist Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Debra Marsh of Hempstead, Long Island, N.Y., to Lee Albert, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Albert of 619 Chestnut St., Bangor.

Rev. Charles Montgomery of Philadelphia officiated at the ceremony which was followed by a reception at the Sheraton Motor Inn, Stroudsburg.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weston Marsh of 941 East Main St., Pen Argyl.

Her maid of honor was her sister, Miss Bonnie Marsh. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jerry Sweet, Miss Rosemary Rumsey, Miss Peggi Montgomery, Miss Patricia McGarr. Shelly Butler was flower girl.

Craig Hess was best man. Ushers were Jerry Sweet, Craig Koch, Curt Reimer, Kenneth Young. Scott Marsh, brother of the bride was junior usher and Eric Butler was ring bearer.

The bride was graduated from Philadelphia General Hospital School of X-ray Technology, and is employed as X-ray technician at Nassau Hospital, Mineola, Long Island.

Her husband, a graduate of Bangor Area High School attended Delaware Valley College, Doylestown and is employed by Carlson Pre-Cast, Kings Park, Long Island.

After a wedding trip to Switzerland, Germany, France and Italy, the couple are at home at 262 Asbury Ave., Westbury, Long Island.

Sale by NOW Saturday

STROUDSBURG — To celebrate Equal Rights Day on Sunday, members of the Pocono Chapter of NOW, woman's organization, will hold a "bake and botton" sale at two locations on Saturday, Aug. 25.

The sale will be held from 9 to 6 p.m. at the Victory Markets in East Stroudsburg and the Warehouse Food Store in Stroudsburg.

The Pocono chapter has also set up a new schedule for its meetings which will be held the second and fourth Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the civil defense headquarters in the Monroe County Courthouse.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Aug. 28.

Brotherhood scholarship awarded

EAST STROUDSBURG — Mitchell Possinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Possinger of R.D. 5, Stroudsburg was awarded a Lutheran Brotherhood Scholarship on Sunday, Aug. 19, at the 11 a.m. service in Grace Lutheran Church.

Richard Sheavely of Nazareth made the presentation. Pastor William Wunder announced that the scholarship will be applied to the tuition at Muhlenberg College where Mitchell will matriculate in September as a pre-law student.

An honor graduate of Stroudsburg High School, Possinger also served as an acolyte in Grace Church for several terms.

Meat from scum

The Philippines' National Institute of Science and Technology says its scientists have developed processes for making "algameat" from chlorella, a common single-celled alga that grows as scum in ponds and is rich in protein.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Teada

Teadas' anniversary feted by children

STROUDSBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Teada of Chipperfield Drive were honored at a silver anniversary party given by their children, Darlene and Darrell.

They were married 25 years ago at the Mount Zion Methodist Church by the late Rev. Ralph Feltham and Rev. William Sharp. Their wedding was the first ever held in the church which was built in 1877.

The party came as a complete surprise to the Teadas who had just returned a few hours earlier from a ten-day vacation. They were taken out to dinner by his parents while her relatives were decorating and preparing refreshments.

Their anniversary cake was made by his aunt, Mrs. Arthur Shamp. Decorations included hanging white bells, silver baskets containing mixed flowers and several of their wedding pictures.

The refreshments were arranged on a decorated table and included the tiered clover-shaped cake. The cake was surrounded by lighted white and silver bell-shaped candles and rosebuds in assorted colors.

Among the guests were five of their wedding attendants, Mrs. Betty Helman, Mrs. Elaine Brodhead, Mrs. Marie Sandt, Mrs. Kathryn Rapp and Russell Marsh. The other attendants, Mrs. James Martin, Mark Setzer and Robert Murphy now live out of the state and were unable to attend.

They receeived many gifts and cards from relatives and friends including a silver tea and coffee server from the immediate family.

Mr. Teada is employed as Superintendent of Mails by the Stroudsburg Post Office. Mrs. Teada is a nurse and is employed by Dr. Marshall Metzgar.

About 75 guests attended the party in their honor.

Joanne Morgan bride

NORTHAMPTON — Joanne Morgan and Charles Kochenash were married Aug. 4 in St. John's Greek Catholic Church, Northampton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan of Gilbert. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kochenash of Egypt, Pa.

The service was performed by Rev. Edward Levendusky. The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Diane Coolbaugh of Gilbert as maid of honor. Richard Kometic of Egypt was best man.

A reception was held at the Village Inn, Allentown. The newlyweds will reside in Allentown.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

Not everybody sees the same happening the same way. What is tragedy to one and a source of embarrassment to another, may be a source of hilarity for everybody else.

That's what happened in the case of Pam's caterpillar. It was a small very green caterpillar with a bright red head, and she was carrying it very gently and with tender pride when she came up with the family from the river to pick me up for lunch.

It wasn't until I was halfway across Main Street that my daughter called attention to the fact that I apparently had sat on something. So I had — I'd sat on a very bright green caterpillar, which had left a bright green stain on the back of my skirt.

It may come out in the wash although as far as I recall I've never read "caterpillar" on the list of stains which detergents promise to remove, but I don't know how I'll make it up to Pam who was inconsolable. Or how soon I'll think it was all as funny as the rest of the crew considered it.

Speaking of the rest of the crew, they have now reached the stage when the peer group syndrome takes over. Even though forewarned, this always comes as a sort of shock to parents and grandparents used to being the center of attention suddenly to find themselves ignored.

Family expeditions which last year the children should be coaxing to go along on are accepted reluctantly if not rebelliously as wasting play time.

The adult role narrows down to that of spectator: the boys riding their bicycles full tilt through puddles acquiring odd look rear views of chocolate brown; or putting on ear muffs for one whole day punctuated at two-second intervals of popping cap guns.

Or retrieving pots and pans, dishes and bedding from under the willow tree where the girls have set up housekeeping in a major way. Or sitting on the river bank counting heads while they swim. We're necessary but no longer cherished.

Machine shaft causes blaze

EAST STROUDSBURG — A hot shaft on a machine caused cotton lint to catch fire at the L&I Ribbon Co. on King Street at 4:40 p.m. Thursday.

Acme Hose Assistant Chief William LaBarre said the fire was out when 41 men and three trucks arrived on the scene. The fire was extinguished by employes.

260 students at Notre Dame

EAST STROUDSBURG — Notre Dame High School of East Stroudsburg will begin its sixth year of operation for 260 students on Wednesday, Sept. 5.

Sister Electa Schmidt, I.H.M., principal of the six-grade secondary school, has announced that the school will change this year from eight 40-minute periods to seven 45-minute periods.

"This change has been made primarily to alleviate the use of study halls and unused free periods," said Sister Electa. "We also have two separate lunch hours instead of one as in the past."

The 1973-74 N.D.H.S. school year will be a combination of old and new, Sister Electa explained. The school's students will again participate this year in a weekly television broadcast on Blue Ridge Cable TV each Wednesday.

New additions to the course schedule include courses in business law and journalism, both available as electives.

The school's Parochial Parent Teacher Association (PPTA) is again expected to be active this year, said Sister Electa.

The group will meet at 8 p.m. on the first Wednesday of each month, alternating meeting sites between the high school and St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church in East Stroudsburg.

Several new faculty members have been added to the Notre Dame staff, according to Sister Electa. They are:

— John Lubbe, English and Spanish.

— George Fritz, religion and guidance.

— Mark Stauderman, social studies and basketball coach.

— Sister Mary Sheehan, I.H.M., social studies.

— Sister Clare Roche, I.H.M, junior high language arts.

Notre Dame High School will be in session this year from 8:20 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., although Sister Electa pointed out that this schedule may be adjusted slightly to comly with bus transportation provided by public school districts.

The school is under the administration of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. Cawley of East Stroudsburg, who also is chief administrator of St. Matthew's Elementary School.

Sister DeSales Williams, I.H.M. will be the new elementary principal at St. Matthew's this year. Sister De Sales has previously served as principal at Parochial Elementary Schools in Maryland, E. Rockaway, N.Y. and Jermyn, Pa.

Another new faculty member at St. Matthews is Sister St. Robert Golden. The two additions give the school a full-time faculty of seven teachers and approximately 200 students.

E. S. opens schools Sept. 5

EAST STROUDSBURG — The East Stroudsburg Area School District will open its five schools to students of grades kindergarten through 12 on Wednesday, Sept. 5.

East Stroudsburg Junior-Senior High School will be in session during the 1973-74 school year from 7:45 a.m. to 2:45 p.m.

The district's four elementary schools, J.M. Hill and J.S. Bunnell Schools in East Stroudsburg, Smithfield School in Minisink Hills and Bushkill-Middle Smithfield School in Bushkill will be in session from 8:15 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Kindergarten sessions at the elementary schools will be from 8:15 to 11 a.m. and from 12 to 2:30 p.m.

The district is currently converting the former Lehigh Valley Dairy Building, on North Courtland Street adjacent to the high school, for use as an administrative center and open space sixth grade center. This building is not expected to be ready for school use until mid-year.

Virtually all parochial school bus students residing in the district will be transported on high school buses. Transfers will be made at the high school to buses going to St. Matthew's Elementary School and Notre Dame High School.

P.M. school district opens doors for 3,100 students

SWIFTWATER — Despite some overcrowding caused by the delay in constructing the district's new high school, the Pocono Mountain School district will swing into operation Sept. 5 for 3,100 students.

Many new programs and activities will be incorporated in the district this year, according to Substitute Superintendent James Davenport. The district is continuing to grow at a record pace.

"Our district's growth is apparent in the need for our new high school, which will be open in late fall due to some construction delays," noted Davenport. "We have also had to expand our professional staff."

The district has added the following new positions:

Middle school foreign language teacher, middle school mathematics-science teacher, middle school English-social studies, middle school health and physical education, two middle school guidance counselors, middle school English, middle school social studies, elementary health and physical education and elementary art, plus three part-time elementary positions.

Returning elementary students will see some changes in their surroundings, thanks to a vigorous summer maintenance program, Davenport added. Four of the five district elementary schools have had some renovation work done.

A seven-member district summer maintenance crew, plus outside contractors, have repainted most classrooms, resurfaced two all-purpose room floors, carpeted eight additional classrooms and paneled some walls in eight classrooms.

On the middle and secondary levels, new programs are being incorporated despite somewhat crowded conditions which will prevail until the new high school is completed.

The district will start the year with 1,524 students in grades seven through 12 crammed into the existing high school in Swiftwater.

When the new high school is completed, 965 ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth graders, plus the district administration, will move into the new building and the present high school will become a middle school for 985 students in grades five through eight.

Until the shift in late fall, every available inch of space in the present high school will be used, including the rifle range and the old district garage, which has been converted into two classrooms.

High school principal Dr. Keith Kingsbury has stated that despite the change in population which will occur during the year, new programs will be started on the secondary level.

These will include a new large group-small group approach to physical science; the addition of a level II biology course which will include physiology and microbiology; and the addition of an advanced numerical geometry and trigonometry course to the mathematics department.

Also, a partial combination of some English and social studies units including ungraded 11th and 12th grade English; individualized studio art, and a simplified and individualized typing course currently being written under a federal vocational education grant by Mrs. Margaret Coates, chairman of the high school business department.

No routes published for P.M.

SWIFTWATER — Due to the large size of the Pocono Mountain School District and some variety in scheduling the 36 district school buses, the district administration has decided not to publish 1973-74 bus routes.

"In order to avoid confusion among 3,100 students and their parents in the district, we have decided to attack the problem individually by issuing a bus card to each student," said district transportation supervisor Joseph Murray.

"We've found this leads to fewer questions from confused parents and makes our scheduling much easier and more accurate," Murray added.

Each bus card includes a student's name, pick-up point, discharge point and homeroom number.

The Pocono Mountain district takes in 325 square miles in Barrett, Coolbaugh, Tobyhanna, Tunkhannock, Paradise and Pocono Townships and Mount Pocono Borough.

Classes begin Sept. 5

STROUDSBURG — The Stroudsburg Area School District will open its six schools to students of grades kindergarten through 12 on Wednesday, Sept. 5.

Stroudsburg Junior-Senior High School will be in session during the 1973-74 school year from 8 a.m. until 2:45 p.m.

The five district elementary schools, Morey School and Ramsey School in Stroudsburg, Arlington Heights School and Clearview School in Stroud Township, and Hamilton School in Sciota, will be in session from 8:45 a.m. to 3:15 p.m.

The district will operate kindergartens at the five elementary schools from 8:45 to 11:15 a.m. and from 12:45 to 3:15 p.m.

Notice by mail

EAST STROUDSBURG — Applications for free and reduced lunches at Notre Dame High School and St. Matthew's Elementary School will be sent to students' homes by mail. The information supplied will be kept confidential.

Obituaries

Edward Miller

BARTONSVILLE — Edward Miller, 53, of Star Route, Bartonsville, died Friday at his home. He was the husband of Mary Jane (Fehr) Miller at home.

He was a son of John and Florence (Jumper) Miller of East Stroudsburg. A truck driver by occupation, he was a veteran of World War II and a member of the Grace United Church of Christ, Tannersville.

In addition to his parents and widow he is survived by one daughter, Mary Ann, at home; two sons, Edward J., at home, and Steven, Stroudsburg R.D. 3; five brothers, John, Avoca, Joseph and Donald, East Stroudsburg, Richard, Stroudsburg; and Howard, California; four sisters, Mrs. Clinton Hardenstine, Stroudsburg R.D. 3, Mrs. Clayton Rutt, Bangor, Mrs. Edward Smith, Florida, and Mrs. Woodrow Hamm, Pennsburg; and two grandchildren. grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Gantzhorn Funeral Home, Tannersville, with Rev. Elmer Meissner officiating.

Burial will be in the Appenzell Cemetery.

Viewing will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday at the funeral home.

Mrs. Anna Biss

EAST STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Anna Biss, 80, of 1178 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, died Thursday in the General Hospital of Monroe County. She was the widow of George N. Biss.

She and her husband had owned and operated the Boston Candy Store at 506 Main St. for 48 years until her husband died in 1967.

Born in Greece, she came to the United States 66 years ago and had resided in Stroudsburg for the past 54 years.

She was a member of St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Catholic Church, Bethlehem.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Metaxia Fasouli, Mrs. Ageliki N. Tsoukatou and Mrs. Diamanto C. Zarocostos, all of Greece, and a brother, James Triculis, Perth Amboy, N.J.

Funeral services will be announced by the William H. Clark Funeral Home, Stroudsburg.

Final concert scheduled

MILLBROOK, N.J. — The final performance in the series of Water Gap Concerts will be given by the New York Trio da Camera at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 1.

The concerts, which are a co-operative effort of Artists for Environment Foundation and the National Park Service are held at the Watergate Recreational Site, one half mile south of Millbrook, N.J.

In case of inclement weather, the concerts are held at the First Presbyterian Church in Blairstown.

Edward and Virginia Brewer, resident directors of the concerts, will perform with the trio. Brewer, in his role as a regular member of the trio, will play the harpsichord and his wife will appear as guest artist on the oboe.

The other members of the trio are Paul Jordan, recorder, and Grace Feldman, viola da gamba.

The harpsichord, recorder, and viola da gamba are all instruments played widely in the baroque era. They emphasize clarity of sound and are rather soft spoken.

Visitors attending the concert are reminded to bring something to sit on and a flashlight for after the performance.

Girl helps dystrophy foundation

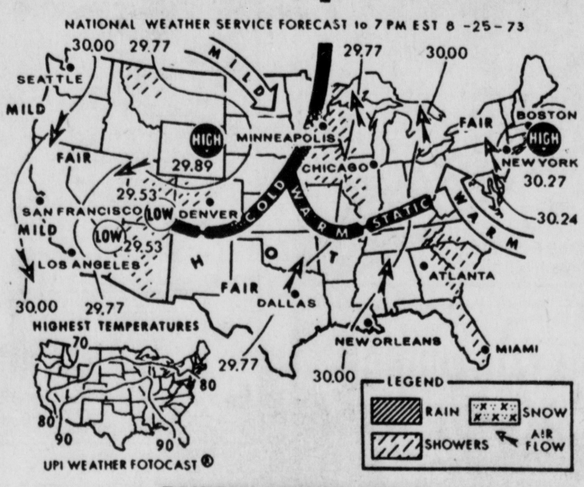

EAST STROUDSBURG — A seven-year-old East Stroudsburg girl raised $12.67 for the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation.

Suzanne Martz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Martz, held a social gathering at her home providing games and selling refereshments.

The money donated to the foundation in the memory of her late cousin, Jimmy Baird, who died of muscular dystrophy.

Suzanne received a kit from Jerry Lewis who holds an annual Muscular Dystrophy Telethon in September in New York City.

ESSC names professor

EAST STROUDSBURG — Dr. David C. Gumpper has been named an assistant professor of psychology at East Stroudsburg State College.

In addition to his duties of teaching, Gumpper will develop courses of an interdisciplinary nature in social psychology and human learning.

He will also contribute to the college's Institute for Individual Differences through teaching and research with children living in the area.

Before joining the faculty of East Stroudsburg, Gumpper served as an assistant professor of psychology at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville.

He has also served as a research assistant in The Institute for Research on Human Resources at Pennsylvania State University.

Gumpper received the Doctor of Philosophy, Master of Science and Bachelor of Science degrees from the Pennsylvania State University.

The selection of a fitting memorial will forever stand as a tribute to the departed loved one.

E. Stroudsburg schools set reduced lunch policy

EAST STROUDSBURG — The East Stroudsburg Area School District has adopted a free and reduced price lunch and-or breakfast policy for district children unable to pay the full price.

The following family size and income scale has been adopted to help determine eligibility:

Family of one, free meals, $0 to $2740, reduced price meals, $2741 to $3280; family of two, free meals, $0 to $3600, reduced price meals, $3601 to $4320; family of three, free meals, $0 to $4460, reduced price meals, $4461 to $5360; family of four, free meals, $0 to $5310, reduced price meals, $5311 to $6380.

Family of five, free meals, $0 to $6100, reduced price meals, $6101 to $7320; family of six, free meals, $0 to $6890, reduced price meals, $6891 to $8260; family of seven, free meals, $0 to $7600, reduced price meals, $7601 to $9120; family of eight, free meals, $0 to $8310, reduced price meals, $8311 to $9980.

Family of nine, free meals, $0 to $8960, reduced price meals, $8961 to $10,750; family of ten, free meals, $0 to $9600, reduced price meals, $9601 to $11,520; family of eleven, free meals, $0 to $10,240, reduced price meals, $10,241 to $12,290; family of twelve, free meals, $0 to $10,880, reduced price meals, $10,881 to $13,060.

Each additional family member should be figured in as adding $640 in the free meals column and $770 in the reduced price category.

Families falling within these scales or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships such as unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of reported income, special education expenses due to mental or physical condition of a child or disaster of casualty losses are urged to apply for free or reduced price lunches and-or breakfasts for their children.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If a family has such children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals for them, the family should contact the school. They may do so by filling in the application sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school.

Applications may be submitted at any time during the school year. The form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the number of persons in the family and any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches.

The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility.

Write to know

The people in The Pocono Record's circulation area have a "Write to Know" — and The Record will try to provide the answers in the "Write to Know" column. The column is designed to answer any questions or solve any problems — consumer, government or anything else. Send questions to "Write to Know," The Pocono Record, 511 Lenox St., Stroudsburg, Pa. 18360. Questions must be in writing and signed in full. No telephone calls, please.

Ever since the tragic fire which cost a Stroud Township family its home, we've had letters from many people asking where the fire alarm system which fortunately saved the family's lives can be obtained.

That system, the Vanguard Fire Alarm System, can only be purchased from authorized Vanguard representatives in this area. Ironically, the father of the burned - out family, Mr. Deskevitch, is now a company representative. A free demonstration is available by calling 421 - 5677 for an appointment.

Two other Vanguard representatives have contacted Write To Know. They are Michael McDaniel and David Sobel, who lives at 117 Day St., East Stroudsburg.

Again, these systems can only be obtained by contacting Vanguard representatives. We've given you three names; don't let it go, because a fire can cause human as well as material damage.

Q. How can I obtain information as to the where - abouts of the Pennsylvania Mututal Life Insurance Co. branch offices in Scranton? The office has closed and I need to change a beneficiary on a policy in question.

I.F.W., Stroudsburg

A. Scranton office has since moved to the Northeastern National Bank office on Wyoming Avenue in Scranton. If they can't help you (phone number 344 - 1168), try the Harrisburg office at 2921 Front St., Harrisburg. Phone Number is 238 - 8271.

Q. Can you tell me to who I should write to have my part of Social Security sent to me? As it is now, it comes in my husband's name. Should I write to Scranton or Philadelphia?

Mrs. H.M., Dingman's Ferry

A. Scranton. The Social Security office in Scranton said they will help you. The address is Post Office Building, Washington Avenue and Linden Street, Scranton, 18503.

Q. Could you help me find out where I could get a book called "The Complete Book of Crochet.?" I tried writing to the company which printed the book in 1946, but my letter came back saying the company had moved and left no forwarding address.

E.H., Bushkill

A. Once again, we ran into a blank wall. Now it's time to ask a reader for help. There may be someone out there who can help us on this one. If you could find a Life magazine for C.J.M., you can find this.

Q. My wife and I would like to know where and how to get copies of our birth certificates? My wife was born in Maryland and I was born in Cumberland.

D.S., Blakeslee

A. By writing to the county courthouses in your places of birth. You may write to the Allegheny County Courthouse in Cumberland and your wife to the Baltimore County Courthouse, in Baltimore. They'll give you forms to fill out so copies can be made legally.

Q. We have Dupont Aluminum siding on our house and it has some very bad scratches. We have tried to get Dupont maroon paint in a spray can, but no one in the Stroudsburg area knows of anyone carrying this item.

J.P., Bushkill

A. Your Write to Know man does. Roll out the family car and truck on up to Sugarman's Eynon Drug Store. They have it. Go into Scranton and get on the Scranton - Carbondale Highway at the Viewmont Mall. Go about eight miles and you can't miss the huge store. The paint department has the paint you need.

Q. On May 25, I had my day in court on an appeal for false arrest. The court upheld my appeal and ordered the fine returned, but as of yet, no money. What's up?

N.R., Tannersville

A. See your attorney. The court ordered the fine of $25 returned, but it ordered it returned to the person who posted it. In your case, it was your attorney, Atty. Brier. Check no. 296 was sent to your counsel on June 13. Suggest you contact him to see "where the money went."

Q. I know it's been quite a while, but could you tell me if anyone in this area has a Stroudsburg Centennial Plate?

G.S., East Stroudsburg

A. Once again, readers, see if you can help here. Readers have often helped before and their help is appreciated. It's up to you, readers.

Q. I recently had some work done on my car at a local dealer, having them install a tape machine. They informed me it would cost no more than $20, but when I came for the bill when I picked up the car, there was a bill for $58.30, for labor only, since I had provided the parts. They wouldn't let me have my car back until the bill was paid. How can I get this situation rectified?

J.L. Mt. Pocono

A. Suggest you contact the Allentown office of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Consumer Protection, in care of Skip Idukas, the chief investigator. You can file a complaint and the bureau will investigate and take action which hopefuly would solve your dilemna. Bureau's address is: 133 N. Fifth St., Allentown 18102. Write for phone them. They'll send you a complaint form, you fill it out and return it.

Note to readers: Remember when you address your grievances to "Write to Know" that you must furnish complete information concerning your difficulty for us to be of service to you.

We've had letters which didn't name the firm involved, letters not listing the address of the firm and similar letters. We must have addresses and complete information if we are to be of full service to you.

Also, in response to a request for readers' help, we received aid for J.S., of East Stroudsburg, R.D. 2.

Reader H.H., Henryville, R.D. 1, advises you to write to Regina Corp., Regina Ave., Rahway, N.Y. 07000 and give the model number and date of shipment to accessories department.

Resort owner busted for gambling

BUSHKILL — The owner of the Fernwood resort, the vacation spot's maitre de and social director are all free on bail following their arrest on gambling charges by state police from Stroudsburg.

Their arrests came after police conducted a follow-up investigation of Tuesday night's incident during and after a bingo game at the plush resort.

Owner Harry Ahnert, matre de Bruce Arnold and William Way, social director, voluntarily appeared before District Magistrate Eleanor Randolph in her East Stroudsburg office.

Way was also arrested at the Wednesday arraignment by Tpr. Robert Werts on drug law violation charges. The warrant had been pending, Werts said.

Ahnert and Arnold are free on $15,000 bail each. Way is free on $10,000 bail for the two charges.

Magistrate Randolph set Friday, Aug. 31 as the preliminary hearing date.

Between 300-400 of the 540 vacationers staying at the resort were playing bingo Tuesday evening when they told police they became aware of the prize money shortage.

Guests had paid $1 for a bingo card for a chance to win. It was estimated by one guest about 600 cards were sold, but he said only $250 in prize money and a bottle of champagne were returned in prizes.

Bingo players became incensed over the alleged money shortage and soon were crowded noisily in the main lobby, demanding return of their money.

A patron called state police when people began standing on tables.

Four troopers from the Stroudsburg barracks arrived soon to restore order. It was then police realized the illegal gambling had taken place, Wertz said, but no action could be taken unless a person who had seen the actual game take place signed a complaint.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mullings of Hicksville, Long Island, N. Y., signed complaints leading to the trio's arrest.

Following troopers' appearance at the resort, a meeting took place between guests' representatives and management. They decided a check for $500 would be sent to the Monroe County Chapter of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children to make up for the money not handed out in prizes during the bingo game.

Following the incident Tuesday, Ahnert said he knew bingo playing was against the law without a license, but he said he had never obtained a license, nor never would.

"It's just a game we have for our guests," Ahnert said. "And as far as I'm concerned that's all it is — a game."

Gambling charges filed against the trio constitute a first-class misdemeanor in Pennsylvania. They are punishable, upon conviction, with fines up to $5,000 or imprisonment of up to five years, Werts said.

Neighbors of dumping site angered by sewage odors

TOBYHANNA — Neighbors of the sewage dumping site in Coolbaugh Township don't like the idea of nine liquid waste haulers spewing thousands of gallons of raw sewage on the ground next to their properties.

In short, they,are enraged!

"The smell got so bad the other night I had to shut all windows and doors," said Karl Neuweiler, a towering man who owns a 14-room hotel on Rte. 196 across from the disposal field.

"It made my wife sick yesterday," said Al Szychowski, a vacation home owner from Pottstown whose mobile home is only a row of trees away from where haulers have been dumping.

Both men said they contacted township supervisors who told them they couldn't do anything. Then they said they got in touch with Department of Environmental Resources officials.

But even that hasn't brought them results.

"All I get when I call anyone on this is buck-passing" claimed Szychowski. "If a man can't even stand in his own yard and enjoy what little vacation he has, well, what can he do?"

"It sure hasn't made our vacation very enjoyable."

Neuweiler, on the other hand, is trying to reopen the frame hotel building he recently acquired.

His family lives in the building now, but one day this week he said he was forced to take them away because the stench from the site across the road was unbearable.

Neuweiler said he contacted DER official Fred Karl in Harrisburg, and after he explained the situation to Karl, the Kingston-based environmentalist admitted there might be some irregularities in the site location.

"I sympathize with the haulers," Neuweiler said. "They are really caught in a bad situation. DER should have found them a workable solution before tightening up.

"I think all the officials should get to together and clear this mess up before it gets worse. I just can't see sewage being dumped on the ground anywhere."

"It's just lousy," he commented.

"What they ought to do is take all the stuff and dump it on Mt. Airy's golf course they are building. If it's so good for fertilizer that's the thing to do," he said sarcastically with a faint smile.

"You can't get away with anything like this anywhere else," said Szychowski.

"We had to call friends we had invited to supper last night and tell them not to come because of the smell," said Mrs. Szychowski.

"It really stinks so bad. You just wouldn't imagine how bad unless you had to live in the smell.

"Our clothes reek of the odor of sewage. I had to tell my husband to take off his clothes and take a bath yesterday after he was outdoors because of the stench. It's pitiful," she said.

Neuweiler, who says his hotel is only 75 steps from the dumping place, is afraid the sewage will pollute the creek a short way away.

Adolph Ramke, a mushroom farmer nearby, says he has no complaints about the dumping because the wind blows away from his farm. He said he didn't like the idea though.

New lab technicians

Hospital graduates five from lab technician school

EAST STROUDSBURG — Two Monroe County residents were among five students graduated Friday from the Laboratory Technicians Training School at the General Hospital of Monroe County.

The graduates are Margaret Metzgar, Stroudsburg R. D. 4; Betty Metzgar, 103 Perry St., East Stroudsburg; Randy Neff, Lehighton R. D. 4; Madel M. Lafferty, Birdsboro; and Judith Ann Henry, Pennsburg.

Diplomas were presented by Dr. Francis A. Gruszka, chief of pathology, in a ceremony which marked completion of 12 months of classroom and on-the-job training in all phases of laboratory work including hematology, chemistry, blood bank, serology, bacteriology and other allied subjects.

As graduates of the program, the students are certified as lab assistants by the American Society of Clinical Pathology.

This was the eighth class to complete the course since the program was instituted in 1965 under the direction of the late Dr. Moses J. Leitner, and continued by his successor, Gruszka.

As a pilot program for the Pennsylvania Department of Education, the General Hospital's lab school has established the feasibility of training lab technicians within a hospital.

At least 12 other Pennsylvania hospitals have since joined in the education program. Their combined efforts have helped to alleviate the shortage of trained laboratory personnel.

The training is free to students, tuition being absorbed by the Commonwealth. Additionally, students from designated depressed areas of the state who qualify receive a weekly stipend from the Commonwealth.

Despite the regular academic standards, the General Hospital's program enjoys a 100 per cent success rate. Of the 49 students who have enrolled in the eight classes, all have graduated.

Thirteen former graduates are presently working at the laboratory of the General Hospital.

According to Chief Laboratory Technician John Williams, applications will be accepted, beginning in November, for the next class which will begin in August, 1974.

From five to seven students are enrolled in a class and, historically, an average of 200 applications are received and screened each time.

Requirements are a high school diploma and a scientific aptitude. Evaluation of applications is based on high school grades, the overall quality of the application, and a personal interview which is held with 20 to 30 of the best applicants.

Applications may be obtained by contacting the Pathology Laboratory at the General Hospital.

Dump site papers rejected by DER

KINGSTON — Liquid waste haulers have had their applications for sewage dumping site approval rejected by the Department of Environmental Resources.

DER official Fred Karl said Friday the applications have been returned to the haulers.

"They sent us the applications all right," Karl said, "But they didn't have them filled in."

"All we got was one page with their names and addresses on them. In fact, one of the applications didn't even have the landowner's name on it."

Karl said a few of the seven applications did not include site locations, and that none had the soil and geology information required by DER for approval.

He didn't blame haulers for the whole problem though, saying he thought the Monroe County Commissioners were supposed to help with the applications.

"I thought we decided at the meeting a couple of weeks ago that the soil survey information was going to be obtained for the haulers by the county."

"Must be somebody slipped up somewhere," Karl commented.

Other points missing on the applications submitted were provisions for leasing or renting the sites from landowners and listing of who was going to be responsible for the locations.

The Kingston-based official said he didn't see any way approval could be granted for the sites before next Tuesday, the day haulers say is their deadline for approval. They say they will resume their strike if more dumping sites other than the 30 acre plot in Coolbaugh Township aren't approved.

Karl said he had received the complete application, with soil and geology information from Herman Martens, owner of Mt. Airy Lodge, for the Coolbaugh Township site.

Volunteers help stranded climber

DELAWARE WATER GAP — A crew of volunteers climbed a steep, rocky mountainside Friday afternoon to rescue a stranded climber from Whitehouse Station, N. J.

John Vargo, 22, and a companion, Robert Hughes, 18, of Somerville, N. J., were climbing up the mountainside just past the border of Delaware Water Gap into Upper Mt. Bethel Township in Northampton County when Vargo decided he was afraid to climb down the cliffside.

Hughes went down the cliff to Rte. 611 where Vargo's brother, James, was sleeping in a car. They reported Vargo ran to a parked railroad engine whose engineer notified authorities.

Delaware Water Gap Police Chief William Snow soon arrived on the scene and with Hughes and a couple other volunteers, went after Vargo.

At about 5:30 they came down with the stranded climber in tow.

Taxpayers will soon reap benefits from Vo-Tech

BARTONSVILLE — Monroe County taxpayers who shelled out a good portion of the $3.4 million which built the Monroe County Area Vocational-Technical School will soon be able to reap first-hand benefits from the complex.

Starting this fall, as the vo-tech school will offer adult vocational education courses at night to all adults and out of school youths over age 18 residing in the county's four public school districts.

Donald Seiple, the vo-tech school's newly appointed evening school coordinator, said a probable 23 courses in various subject fields will be available to 230-250 adult students throughout the coming school year.

"We are trying to approach this program from two angles," said Seiple. "We will offer approximately 14 wage-earning courses to people already involved in a trade who wish to improve their skill so that they might advance or who wish to break into a trade area.

"In either case, they will be using the skills they learn here for job and money purposes. Wage-earning courses will be offered two nights a week for two and one-half hours," said Seiple.

"We will also offer interest courses for those who wish to acquire a skill for hobby or leisure purposes," the coordinator added.

To illustrate how the different course intensities work, Seiple used the example of an automotive body repair course for professionals or apprentices already engaged in the trade.

In addition, there would be an automotive mechanics course for the man who likes to work on his car on weekends and a "powderpuff" auto mechanics course strictly for women on basic repairs and maintenance.

Seiple said the courses will run for 14 weeks with current semesters tentatively set at Oct. 1-Jan. 17, 1974 and Feb. 4-May 16. Prices will be $30 for wage-earning courses and $20 for interest courses.

"We are currently meeting with our craft advisory committees for each subject area (panels of industry and labor consultants) to make sure the courses will meet the trade and interest needs of our local residents," said Seiple.

Seiple noted that although this trade training will not replace mandatory union apprenticeship in most cases, it was considered advantageous for advancement by union officials he had talked to.

"We hope to be able to set up a 144-hour apprentice related training program some day and maybe get developed to the point industries will be enrolling their employes," Seiple commented.

He said the initial program would not be V. A.-approved or count for high school credit, "but this is what we want to get eventually once the programs are established for a year or two," he added.

Registration for this fall's courses will be possible through mailed coupons which may be clipped from an advertisement which will appear in The Record, as well as at the school.

Registration nights at which prospective students may avail themselves of guidance service and a tour of the school's facilities will be held at times and dates to be announced.

Jaycees to hold barbeque

STROUDSBURG — The Pocono Mountain Jaycees will sponsor a chicken barbeque at the Clearview Elementary School today.

The cookout is for the benefit of the General Hospital Expansion Fund and will run from 2:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Sunday is the rain date. Tickets are available at Rovito's Clothing Store, Pocono Carpets and Frank Brown at the Penn Stroud-Hilton.

Planners meeting

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Planning and Zoning Commission will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 28 in the planning commission office. Attorneys from the Strike Force of the Department of Environmental Resources will attend.

Developers promise to fix sewage trouble

STROUDSBURG — Stonehedge residents in Stroud Township should receive relief from the sewage problem afflicting the development the near future.

A meeting of Stroud Township supervisors and 20th Century Insurance, developers of Stonehedge, has produced a plan of relief for three families whose homes have been surrounded by sewage and surface water.

The developers promised supervisors they would install a new drain field in the area, which should aid sewage water disposal.

If the developers do not live up to this promise, according to J. Nelson Westbrook, chairman of the board of supervisors, the township will resort to legal action.

Supervisors approved the development in 1965; the surface water problem developed soon after. The Department of Environmental Resources found in 1967 that the area was unsuitable for sewage disposal because of a high water table.

For the past year, three households have had to have their septic systems pumped out frequently because of the drainage problem. A liquid waste haulers' strike two weeks ago made the homeowners' problem acute.

B&B Excavating Co. were contracted to install the septic systems by 20th Century.

Baseball protest

WILLIAMSPORT — The Pocono Chapter of the National Organization for Women(NOW) will join chapters throughout the state in a protest at the Little League World Series in Williamsport today.

The demonstration to dramatize the exclusion of women from sports coincides with "Equal Rights Day," proclaimed by Governor Shapp to commemorate the 53rd anniversary of the passage of the 19th amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

NOW claims that through Little League boys can become prefessional athletes and acquire scholarships for college. NOW maintains there are no comparable benefits for girls.

Giles leads U.S. to Walker Cup margin

United States' Gary Koch chips back to the second green Friday after his approach shot to the hole landed on the third tee. Action took place during Koch's match with Great Britain's John Davies. (UPI Wirephoto)

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI) — U.S. Amateur champion Marvin "Vinny" Giles and teammate Dick Siderowf easily won their singles matches Friday and contributed to a near-sweep in doubles play but the United States managed only a one point lead over Britain in the 24th Walker Cup golf matches.

The day's action gave the U.S. a 6 ½-5 ½ lead in points. A team needs 12 ½ points to win the match in which the United States holds a commanding 20-2-1 margin over the years.

The competition ends today with four doubles and eight singles matches at The Country Club.

Giles won four straight holes and five of six to whip Hugh Stuart 5 and 4 while Siderowf, who won the 1973 British Amateur title, strung together three straight winning holes and four of five to top Britain's Michael Bonallack, 4 and 2.

Giles, 30, an amateur from Richmond, Va., who manages the financial affairs of professional athletes, sank a breaking five-foot downhill putt on the 18th green to preserve a doubles tie while teaming with Gary Koch against Peter Hedges and Michael King.

The U.S. won Friday's other three doubles contest with Siderowf and Mark Pfeil leading the way on a 5 and 4 triumph over Stuart and John Davies.

Giles said he won the match with his putter. "I one-putted the last six holes. The greens are just magnificant—true, of any I've ever seen. If you can't putt these greens, you might as well not play anymore."

He attributed his early trouble to the tense morning doubles match. "I had a draining match this morning," he said. "But I had no trouble getting charged up in the afternoon because Stuart beat me 3 and 1 in the final singles match two years ago." Britain won those matches, 13-11.

Giles carded bogeys on the first and second holes Friday, then shot two-under par golf the rest of the way until the match ended with the Walker Cup veteran holding an insurmountable five-hole lead after 14 holes of play.

Britain's most impressive win came when William Milne, a burly 22-year-old engineer from Scotland, sank a four-foot putt on the 15th hole to stop Pfeil, 4 and 3.

In other singles matches King, Davies, Howard Clark and Charles Green scored victories for Great Britain while Dan Edwards won for the United States.

King tripped Michael Killian and Davies edged Koch, both by one-up margins, Green was two-up on William Rogers and Clark topped Martin West 2 and 1. Edwards topped Rodney Foster two-up.

In the three other doubles matches, all won by the U.S., Edwards and James Ellis dropped Milne and Green, 2 and 1, West and Doug Ballenger outlasted Foster and Trevor Homer, also 2 and 1, and Siderowf and Pfeil whipped Davies and Stuart, 5 and 4.

Alternate shot team play (one point for win, ½ point for tie):
Vinny Giles and Gary Koch, U.S., tied Michael King and Peter Hedges, Britain.
Dick Siderowf and Mark Pfeil, U.S., defeated Hugh Stuart and John Davies, Britain, 5 and 4.
Dan Edwards and James Ellis, U.S., defeated Charles Green and William Milne, Britain, 2 and 1.
Douglas Ballenger and Martin West, U.S., defeated Rodney Foster and Trevor Homer, Britain, 2 and 1.

Singles match play:
Vinny Giles, USA, d. Hugh Stuart, Great Britain, 5 and 4.
Dick Siderowf, USA, d. Michael Bonallack, Great Britain, 4 and 2.
John Davies, Great Britain, d. Gary Koch, USA, one up.
Howard Clark, Great Britain, d. Martin West, USA, 2 and 1.
Dan Edwards, USA, d. Rodney Foster, Great Britain, two up.
Charles Green, Great Britain, d. William Rogers, USA, one up.
William Milne, Great Britain, d. Mark Pfeil, USA, 4 and 3.
Michael King, Great Britain, d. Michael Killian, USA, one up.

Astros' Rader aids Cub loss

HOUSTON (UPI) —Doug Rader drove in two runs and scored another Friday night to pace the Houston Astros to a 4-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Houston scored twice in the first on Bob Gallagher's single, a walk and a two-run single by Rader.

The Astros scored again in the second inning on a walk, Skip Jutze's single off Cub pitcher Bert Hooten's glove and a sacrifice bunt by Jerry Reuss that was bobbled by Hooten to load the bases. Gallagher then followed with a sacrifce fly to increase Houston's lead to 3-0.

Reuss went the distance while scattering 10 hits to record his 14th victory against nine losses. He had to retire pinch hitter Andre Thornton with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth before nailing down the win. Hooten's record dropped to 10-12.

Veteran Mary Mills tops LPGA 'Hospital' after 67

DENVER (UPI) — Mary Mills, who spent the last two weeks skin diving off the Florida Keys, ignored a lightning storm that upset several tour pros to fire a four-under-par 67 Friday and take a three-stroke lead in the opening round of the $30,000 National Jewish Hospital Open.

Miss Mills, who one-putted five greens for birdies and had only one bogey over the 6,330-yard Green Gables Country Club Course, was followed by Kathy Ahern, Jane Blalock, Cathy Duggan and Betsy Rawls, who all shot one-under-par 70s.

Grouped another stroke back at par 71 were LPGA leading money winner Judy Rankin, Kathy Whitworth, who is second in LPGA money standings, Susie McAllister and Sandra Spuzich.

"I took the last two weeks off because I was just tired of golf," said Miss Mills, the fifth leading money winner on the LPGA tour. "I spent the two weeks down in the Florida Keys snorkling and only practiced two hours during that whole time. I just needed the break."

Mills had four other chances for birdies on the front nine but wasn't able to sink the ball.

"I really wanted just one more birdie," she said. "If I could have shot a 66 it would have been the lowest score I've had since joining the tour in 1962."

The lightning storm that moved into the Denver area around 1 p.m. made Miss Mills "a little jumpy, but I was pretty much in control of myself all day and didn't really mind it."

But Miss Blalock, who was hampered by a "horrible" headache and backache, partially blamed the lightning for a double bogey on the 17th hole.

"I think it hurt my concentration because I knew I might have to stop at any time," said Miss Blalock. "I tried to hurry because I didn't want to get caught in the rain and have to go to the clubhouse and wait for it to stop."

However, the rain which fell in parts of Denver, missed the course and play was halted for only 15 minutes while the lightning storm passed over. The inaugural National Jewish Open in 1972 was plagued with cold weather, heavy rain and gusty winds.

Seven lady golfers were bunched at one over par 72, Joyce Deese, Joyce Kazmierski, Marlene Hagge, Renee Powell, Donna Young, Sally Little and Jan Ferraris.

Crawford, John combine to help blank Phils, 3-0

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Consecutive triples by Willie Crawford and Von Joshua sparked a two-run sixth inning Friday night and carried the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 3-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies behind the three-hit pitching of Tommy John.

Crawford scored on Joshua's hit and Bill Russell's sacrifice fly brought in Joshua to give the Dodgers a 3-0 lead and tag Wayne Twitchell with his sixth loss against 12 victories.

The Dodgers scored an unearned run in the fourth when Bill Buckner singled and came around when rightfielder Mike Anderson booted Willie Davis' double.

John, now 12-7, served up a bunt single to Willie Montanez, a sixth inning single to Twitchell and a single to Greg Luzinski in the ninth. He struck out six and walked two while recording his second shutout of the season.

Mets overtime Giants in 10th

NEW YORK (UPI)—Felix Millan singled home Ken Boswell with one out in the bottom of the tenth inning to give the New York Mets a 1-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants Friday night.

Boswell led off the inning with a pinch-hit single to right field and was sacrificed to second base by Willie Mays. Millan then delivered the game-winning hit, giving lefthander Jerry Koosman his 10th victory of the year against 14 defeats.

Koosman, who has been supported by only nine runs in his last seven starts, was helped out of his biggest jam in the fourth inning when, with the bases loaded and two out, Cleon Jones made a diving catch of Dave Rader's sinking line drive to left field.

Koosman pitched the complete game shutout, striking out five and walking five.

Juan Marichal also went the distance for the Giants and absorbed his 10th loss against 10 victories.

The Mets have now won three of their last four games in their last at-bat. The Giants had won all 11 of their extra inning games this year.

'Strongman' Duffy paces Indian win

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Frank Duffy, who had averaged only one homer for every 224 at bats in his major league career, hammered out two homers Friday night and sparked the Cleveland Indians to an 11-5 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Duffy's first homer of the season, a three-run blast over the leftfield fence in the second inning, staked starter Tom Timmerman to a 3-0 lead and his second blast landed in the leftfield stands to trigger a four-run fifth inning that wiped out a 5-3 Texas lead.

After pushing across an unearned run in the second inning, Alex Johnson opened a four-run Texas fourth inning with his sixth homer. Vic Harris added a two-run homer and Dave Harris singled in the final Ranger run.

Timmerman, who struck out four, walked three and allowed six hits in picking up his seventh victory in four losses, settled down after the Texas uprising in the fourth and blanked the Rangers without a hit over the final five innings.

Braves slip past Bucs, 3-2

ATLANTA (UPI) — Dusty Baker hit a two-run homer off relief pitcher Dave Giusti with none out in the bottom of the ninth Friday night to give the Atlanta Braves a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Darrell Evans had led off the inning with only the Braves' third hit of the game and Giusti relieved Luke Walker, who in turn had relieved Nelson Briles after Briles developed back trouble. Briles had pitched a one-hit shutout over the first six innings.

Hank Aaron of the Braves, only 10 homers away from breaking Babe Ruth's career record, sat out the contest with a stomach virus.

Orioles' win streak reaches 11

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Bobby Grich collected four hits and drove in three runs to support the three-hit pitching of Dave McNally Friday night as the Baltimore Orioles stretched their winning streak to 11 games by defeating the Kansas City Royals, 6-0.

The Orioles' winning streak is the longest in the American League this season and ties their club record.

After touching loser Al Fitzmorris for single runs in each of the first three innings, the Orioles went on to tie a club record for consecutive wins in a season as McNally, 13-13, notched his 28th career shutout and third of the season.

Rich Coggins shared hitting honors with Grich with a homer, double, single and sacrifice fly.

Al Bumbry singled in the first inning, took third on a Coggins' single and made it 1-0 when Tommy Davis bounced into a double play.

Cardinals defeat Reds in 11

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Jose Cruz' 10th homer of the season, coming off Clay Carroll with two-out in the 11th inning, gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Friday night.

Diego Segui, who blanked the Reds in the bottom of the tenth after loading the bases with walks with none out gained the victory, his sixth against four losses.

A two-run homer by Ted Simmons had given the Cardinals a 4-3 lead in the fifth inning, but Andy Kosco homered for Cincinnati in the ninth inning to tie the game at 4-4.

A throwing error by Dan Driessen on Lou Brock's ground ball led to the Cardinals' first run of the game in the first inning. Brock stole second, went to third on a fielders' choice and came home on a infield hit by Simmons.

Pete Rose, who collected four hits, tied the score at 1-1 with his fourth homer of the year in bottom of the first, but the Cardinals moved ahead in the second when Ted Sizemore singled home pitcher Allan Foster.

A throwing error by Ted Crosby on Sizemore's ground ball preceded Simmons' home run in the fifth inning off Jack Billingham.

Golf's the game

By Joe Miegoc, Record sports writer

Sixteen Monroe County golfers were among a group of 88 members of the Keystone Consistory Club which recently held its first annual golf tournament at Irem Temple Country Club in Dallas, outside Wilkes-Barre.

Dick MacDonough, a member of the Monroe County club, took second honors in the low gross category with a 76, while Class "A" first prize went to Maurice "Babe" Metzgar with a low net score of 72. He's from Delaware Water Gap.

East Stroudsburg's Barney Staples won third honors in the "A" class with a low net of 73, while Stroudsburg's Ken Werkheiser won the Class "B" low net crown with a 75. In Class "C," Belvidere's Charles Hopkins was second with a low net 75.

A special prize went to Monroe County's secretary-treasurer Chet Davey for most strokes needed to escape a sand trap. Metzgar and MacDonough also won door prizes.

Also on tap for Sunday in the championship flight final in the club championship at Glen Brook. Steve Mennhenitt will take on Jim Williams in a 36-hole encounter, following the Rudy's gang to the first tee.

On Monday, Jack Cuttle, pro at Pocono Manor, will play host to a large group of golfers in the Pocono Mountains Open. A total of 110 pros and 22 amateurs will compete in the event, of which Sunnybrook Golf Club pro Tony Perla, winner of the Pennsylvania Open, is defending champion.

The Fred Waring Four Ball championship at Shawnee Country Club, which includes John Eisenhower, son of the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower and formerly Ambassador to Belgium, will wind up its busy schedule, wrapping up play today.

Americans win basketball title, 75-67

MOSCOW (UPI) —Avenging last summer's Olympic defeat at Munich, a sky-high United State men's basketball team stunned the Soviet Union, 75-67, Friday and American swimmers added an encore of five gold medals in the dramatic conclusion of the World University Games.

The United States, ignoring any thoughts of "too little, too late," spoiled the Soviet victory party by taking the most-coveted men's basketball gold medallion with a hot-shooting, fast-breaking assault that left the Russians shaking their heads in disbelief.

The American swimmers, led by Jack Tingley's second gold medal of the games, then did their part by winning five of the seven events on the schedule.

At day's end, the Russians winning gold medal total stood at 64, but the swimmers and men's basketball team had brought the U.S. back to a more respectable bag of 18 golds. The American basketball victory restored the prestige that was lost in last summer's 51-50 loss to the Russians at Munich.

Led by an awe-inspiring performance from 6-4 David Thompson of North Carolina State, the U.S. cagers broke loose for 13 straight points midway through the first half that broke the Russians' backs and left them for dead.

Thompson started the drive when, with the U.S. leading 18-17, he hit a long jumper from about 20 feet out and then followed up with a dunk shot that came off a fast court pass from Maurice Lucas of Marquette.

Baskets by Quinn Buckner of Indiana, Thompson and Marvin Barnes of Providence plus Lucas' free throw then made it 29-17 before Thompson capped the spurt by leaping right over the Soviets' astonished Alexander Bolochev for a net-ripping dunk shot.

In all, Thompson wound up with 24 points to lead all scorers and blocked at least a half-dozen shots.

The Russsians made a valiant effort to get back in the second half but the Americans, with superior rebounding from 7-4 Tom Burleson and 6-9 Barnes, controlled the boards and kept them from getting any closer than 10 points.

"I'm glad I was able to have a part in this," said Burleson, the only member of the U.S. team who played in last year's Olympics. "It's a personal satisfaction. Beating the Russians has been burning in me for a long time. I'm only sorry the other 11 at Munich couldn't be here with us."

Tingley, the 6-foot-7 American record-holder for the 1,650-meter freestyle, used his height to good advantage in the men's 1,500-meters freestyle. Concentrating on long, smooth strokes, Tingley, a 21-year-old Louisville, Ky., native, was too much for Holland's Anton Van Kloosterer as he won by half a pool. Tingley's time of 16:30.0 was a new games record.

Tingley, who won the 400 meter mens freestyle on Thursday, thus joins teammates Allen Poucher and David Johnson as the only American athletes to win two individual gold medals.

The American women added four individual medals to the U.S. booty with 1-2 sweeps in both the 100-meter backstroke and 200-meter medley.

In the backstroke, Ellen Feldman of Stoneleigh, Md., and the University of Virginia, matched teammate Elizabeth Tullis of Scottsdale, Ariz., stroke for stroke over the last 50 meters before winning by a hand in 1:07.0. Miss Tullis time was 1:07.4.

After the Soviets countered with a 1-2 sweep of the men's 100-meter breastroke behind Nikolai Pankin and Igor Tcherdakov, Susie Atwood of Long Beach, Calif., and Cathy Carr of Albuquerque, N.M., came right back to take the gold and silver in the women's medley

Miss Atwood, winner of both a silver and bronze medal at the 1972 Olympics, led all the way over Miss Carr and won by two body lengths in 2:26.4, a games record. Third was Berite Ujkuraitaite of the Soviet Union.

The other Soviet win went to Sergei Zacharov who beat Steve Furness of Santa Ana, Calif., and Lee Engstrand of Bartlesville, Okla., in the 400-meter men's medley with a time of 4:38.0.

The Americans capped the swimming competition (in which overall they took 16 golds to the Russians six) with victories in both the relays.

The women's team of Miss Tullis, Cathy Corceone of Princeton, N.J., Eadie Wetzel of Evanston, Ill., and Sally Tuttle of Ventura, Calif., took the 400-meter freestyle relay in a meet record of 4:01.0.

Closing out the swimming festivities, the U.S. men's 400-meter medley relay team of David Johnson of San Diego, Mark Chatfield of Glendale, Calif., Allen Poucher of Jacksonville, Fla., and Ken Knox of Glen Ridge, N.J., won their event in 3:55.6 —also a Games record.

The Soviets gained some solace with an 82-44 rout of the U.S. women in basketball and they also picked up golds in water polo, diving and wrestling.

Unknown playoff victor to face Nicklaus

J.C. Snead tops 'match' qualifiers

CARY, N.C. (UPI) —Veteran J.C. Snead, shooting his second straight three-under par 68 in the $100,000 L&M Open, led eight players Friday in catapulting out of the L&M field into today's opening round of the $150,000 U.S. Professional Match Play Championship.

Runnerup to Snead in qualifying for the first round of the match play was young and winless John Schroeder, who shot a course record 65 on the 6,786-yard MacGregor Downs Country Club course Friday for a total of 138, four under par and two strokes back of Snead's 136.

Earning their match play berths with three-under-par totals of 139 were rookie Artie McNickle (71-68), Dan Sikes, Jr. (68-71), DeWitt Weaver (70-69), Allen Miller (68-71) and Brian "Buddy" Allin (67-72). Allin, slumping since he won the Florida Citrus Open, is the only one who has won a tourney this year of the eight qualifiers.

Joe Porter, a 28-year-old from Scottsdale, Ariz., on his fifth year of the tour, beat out six others who tied at two-under 140 after the second round of the L&M to earn the eighth spot in the match play—a berth that pits him against defending champ Jack Nicklaus in the opening round of today's match play.

In the playoff, Porter beat Lanny Wadkins, winner of two tournaments this year including last week's USI Classic, on the par five fifth hole when Wadkins bogeyed. Porter had rounds of 69 and 71.

Falling by the wayside earlier in the playoff were Rik Massengale (71-69), Paul Moran (71-69), Dave Stockton (67-73), Bob Smith (72-68) and Bobby Mitchell (73-67). They and Wadkins now assume a joint lead in the L&M Open, which continues today and Sunday simultaneously with the hole-play match championship.

Nicklaus and seven other golfers were exempt from qualifying in the match play.

In today's first match play round, other matches will pit Lee Trevino against Sikes, Masters Champion Tommy Aaron against Allin, Grier Jones against Schroeder, U.S. Open Champion Johnny Miller against McNickle, George Archer against Weaver, Tom Weiskopf, winner of five tournaments this year against Allen Miller and Jerry Heard against Snead.

Asked about playing Nicklaus today, Porter said, "I've got nothing to lose. He's the greatest player in the world and I'll just do the best I can."

Snead, second to Aaron in the Masters and 10th on the year's money list with $91,089, was less enthusiastic about his second round 68.

"I've got to find me a swing before getting into match play," he said.

"I'm not driving the ball well at all," he added. "When I play my worst golf I'm hitting it to the right, and I'm hitting it to the right now."

Taiwan, Tucson to meet for Little League title

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) —Tainan City, shooting for a third straight championship for Taiwan, and Tucson seeking to take the title to Arizona for the first time, meet Saturday in the championship game of the 27th Little League World Series.

Both teams will go with their No. 1 pitchers. Tainan City will use righthander Huang Ching-Hui, and Tucson will send lefthander Mike Fimbers to the mound.

Neither team has been scored on in their two Series games. The Nationalist Chinese battered Bitburg Air Force Base, West Germany, 18-0, and followed with an incredible 27-0 thumping of Tampa, Fla.

Tucson blanked Colonie, N.Y., 4-0, and Birmingham, Mich., 12-0.

Both starting pitchers have perfect games to their credit. Huang Ching-Hui threw his against Bitburg. Fimbers did not allow a runner to reach base in a 3-0 triumph over Kaneohe, Hawaii, in a western regional semifinal a week ago.

Taiwanese teams have won the title three of the last four years, and Far East entries have won five of the last six. Before Taiwan captured its first title in 1969, Japan wore the crown for two years. Only Wayne, N.J., in 1970 has been able to break the Oriental domination of the tourney for boys 11 and 12 years old.

Tainan City takes a postseason tournament record of 13-1 into the championship game. The lone loss was a 2-1 setback to Kaohsiung City in the Taiwan tourney.

The Chinese team blanked the opposition in the last six games and held them hitless in the last four. In two games here, Tainan City batted .459 and hit nine home runs. Second baseman Chen Pai-Shen hit three homers.

Tucson, with a 12-0 tourney record, batted .351 in two Series games. Shortstop Mike Martinez hit the only homer. Lefthanders Fimbers and Ed Vosburg pitched scoreless ball over the last four games.

With a forecast for sunny skies and temperatures in the 80s, a crowd of at least 32,000 was expected for the title game, concluding a season during which 8,000 leagues operated in 30 nations.

The crowd was to include about 5,000 Chinese-Americans and James Shen, ambassador to the United States from the Republic of China. William Shea, for whom the New York Mets' Shea Stadium was named, was to throw out the first ball.

Atoms to play for NASL title

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) —The offensive minded Dallas Tornado takes on the surprising Philadelphia Atoms Saturday night for the championship of the North American Soccer League.

The Tornado features the leading scorer in the league, sensational rookie Kyle Rote Jr., along with prolific goal scorer Ilija Mitic. But they will have to contend with Philadelphia's talented goal keeper Bob Rigby who last week shut out Toronto, 3-0, to earn the Atoms a berth in the title game.

Dallas gained the title match by defeating defending champion New York, 1-0, last week. The game will be at Texas Stadium.

The Tornado is experienced in playoff competition, having captured the NASL title two years ago. This is the first season of competition for Philadelphia, however, having been created as an expansion team this season and then surprising the league by capturing the Eastern Division crown.

The Atoms will be at a disadvantage because they were forced to give up their two leading scorers, Jim Fryatt and Andy Provan. Both had been on loan from European teams and had to report back for the start of their season.

Rookies Bill Straub and Charlie Duccilli must fill in.

In their two regular season games the two teams played to a 0-0 tie and Philadelphia won, 2-1. Those two games were played very early in the season, however, and both teams have improved sharply since then —articularly the Tornado which has seen the advent of Rote as a major soccer star.

Rote, 22, son of former New York Giant football star Kyle Rote Sr., won the most valuable player honor in addition to the scoring title. Rote was the first American and the first rookie to ever lead the NASL in scoring.

Midget football scrimmage today

EAST STROUDSBURG — A controlled scrimmage for local boys on the midget and pee wee football teams will be held today at 10 a.m. at Dansbury Park with the Nazareth Holy Family Chieftans.

The scrimmage will be the teams' second and first of the season at home.

Denver, Phoenix snubbed by NHL

TORONTO (UPI) —There will be no discussion of bids by Denver and Phoenix for National Hockey League franchises at meetings of the league's board of governors now in progress here, NHL president Clarence Campbell said Friday.

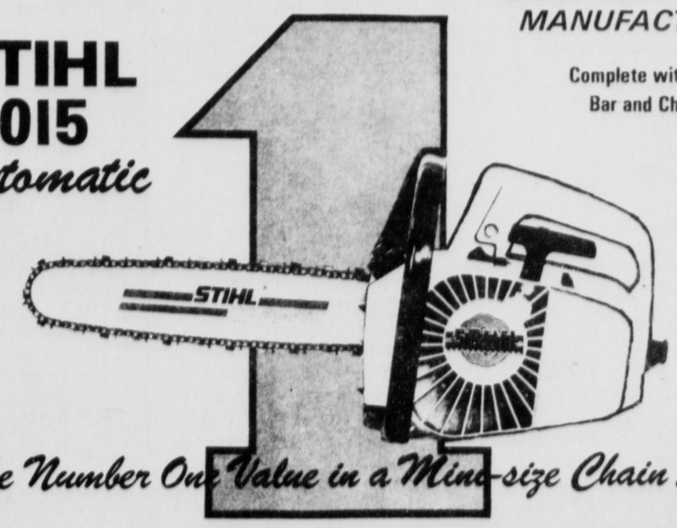

Expansion, realignment of the league's divisions and redistribution of monies from a previous league expansion are all matters, Campbell said, on which announcements will be made Monday.

Jack O'Brian's

New York's Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — When it comes to living legends, how about a former Mack Sennett bathing beauty who was in movies as far back as 1915, and who, 58 years later, still has her looks, her health and her career . . . Who else but Gloria Swanson . . . Recently on B'way in "Butterflies Are Free," she engaged us in a conversation on the verities . .

"Have you ever been told you've saved a life without knowing what you were doing?" Gloria asked us. "I've always known the immense power of thought. But I've had it brought home to me in ways I'll never forget.

"When I'm appearing in a play, my mail multiplies. It becomes a chore just to read it. Sometimes I don't have time enough left to write to my seven grandchildren, but I keep trying. One day at the Booth Theater I got a short handwritten personal letter from a very well-known actress I'd never met. I had done a talk show a few days before. When I finish doing a TV or radio show, I never know where I've been, let alone what I said.

"This lady tried to tell me. She had been in complete despair that night. She had the pills ready. She was about to write her last note. Then she turned on the radio looking for some music. Instead she heard Loudmouth Swanson chattering away. Something compelled her to listen. And something I said changed her mind. When I read her letter chills went up my spine. Later we met and became friends. What a lesson it was for me!

"Every loving thought is a powerful prayer. I learned it again the other day when I tried and failed.

"I was in California when I got a call from a friend in New York. He had just come from the first performance of a revival of the William Inge play 'Natural Affection' which had failed on Broadway in 1963. A new off-Broadway group that calls itself U.R.G.E.N.T. had launched their theater with this old play. Director Israel Hicks and producer Ron Muchnik had cast the brilliant black actor Nathan George in the part originally done by an actor of Italian descent. It electrified the play. My friend couldn't stop raving about it. He is usually so critical of theater these days, he rarely likes anything very much anymore, so it was a tonic to listen to him. We recalled attending the closing of another Inge play in 1966. We both liked it so much we called the producer, Michael Wager, to commiserate with him. He said 'Why don't you call Bill Inge in California and tell him?' So we did.

Ann Landers

Run, don't walk

Dear Ann: Remember the rain problem — whether to run or walk to get less soaked? Well, we seniors at the Missouri School for the Deaf were challenged by our science and math teachers to solve it. So, we rigged up some empty cartons, lined the sides with paper towels and gave one carton to a runner and one to a walker.

The two experimenters held the boxes over their heads, left the building at the same moment and went the same distance — 240 feet. It took the runner 20 seconds to reach his destination. The walker took 60 seconds.

We wrung out the paper towels and discovered that the walker absorbed nearly twice as much moisture as the runner. The exact measure was 10.1 grams to the walker's 5.2 grams. —

M.I.T., Here We Come!

Dear Seniors: That's what I call using your heads! Thanks to all who signed the letter: L.G., D.H., D.C., M.L., N.G., R.N., E.S., K.S., M.E., J.K., M.H., B.M., J.G., L.K. and D.E.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a man in my 30s who has been going with a girl ten years younger than I am. We have been keeping steady company for nearly four months. I want to get married someday, and thought this girl might make a good wife. Last night I asked her about her past romances.

She poured out not one story but TWO. The boy who took her virginity was the captain of the high school basketball team. She was 16 at the time, thought she was in love and was sure he'd marry her. That lasted two years. When she was 19 she went to bed with her boss, who never said one word about marriage.

I felt as if someone had plunged a knife into my heart. I have lost all confidence in this girl. She had me completely fooled. I could have sworn she was a virgin. Should I go ahead and marry her and hope I can get over the disappointment? —

Still Upset

Dear S.U.: No. You'd probably have her figured as the town tramp the first time she smiled at the postman. Go find yourself a lily-white maiden, Sir Galahad. I assume, of course, that you, too, are 100 per cent pure.

One too many

By Jean Adams

THIRD GIRL: (Q.) I have been going out with Sue and Marie and not having any trouble. This summer I have also dated Cindy twice. Now she wants me to drop Sue and Marie and go out just with her.

Cindy is a nice kid but I don't think I like her that much. What do you think I should do? —

Crowded in Maine

(A.) Ask yourself two questions: 1. Does Cindy want you to drop Sue and Marie because she really likes you a lot, or does she just want to swing her weight around? Some girls want to and it seems to me that Cindy is moving quite fast.

2. Do you like Cindy enough to give up the two other girls to get her? Your letter indicates you don't.

I think the sensible thing is to tell Cindy you like her and would like to date her, but not on an exclusive basis. That would leave it up to her to decide whether she is willing to share you with the other girls or not.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 8-25

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠
2 ♣	3 ♠	4 ♣	4 ♠
5 ♣	Dble

Opening lead — king of hearts.

From a team of four match comes this hand where, at the first table, West got to five clubs doubled on the bidding shown and went down two for a loss of 300 points.

The bidding at the second table was no less spirited, and this time South got to five spades redoubled after this sequence:

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠
2 ♣	3 ♠	5 ♣	5 ♠
Pass	Pass	Dble	Redble

This contract proved less than a brilliant success after West came forth with the highly effective lead of the ace of diamonds.

East showing out, West continued with the ten, which East ruffed. West's lead of the ten, his highest diamond, directed partner to return the higher suit as between hearts and clubs. Had West wanted a club return, he would have played the deuce of diamonds at trick two to direct a low suit return.

East obliged by leading a heart at trick three, ruffed by West, who now led the eight of diamonds, ruffed again by East. East played still another heart, ruffed by West, and South's agony was finally over — though not before he had sadly conceded 1,600 points for going down three redoubled.

East's leap to five clubs, followed by his double of five spades on a seemingly trickless hand, set the stage for the penalty that ensued. However, East's efforts would have been negated had West not found the killing diamond lead that laid South low.

Stocks suffer moderate decline

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices moved irregularly in sluggish trading Friday on the New York Stock Exchange after early strength from the previous day's rally faded.

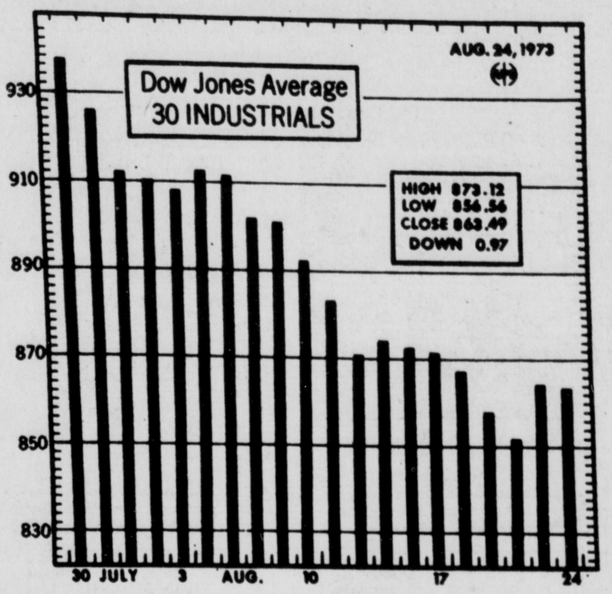

The Dow Jones industrial average declined 0.97 to 863.49, after being as much as 4 points on the plus-side. Thursday the index of 30 blue-chips gained 12.56, its best advance in nearly a month. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index slumped 0.29 to 101.62. The average price of a NYSE common share lost 6 cents.

Advances led declines, 675 to 660, among 1,744 issues traded.

Volume totaled 11,200,000 shares, compared with 11,390,000 Thursday.

Early technical strength carried over from Thursday petered out. Volume proved insufficient to maintain it, analysts said. They said word from the Commerce Department the nation posted its second trade surplus of the year in July may have sparked some early buying.

In other news, the dollar moved lower in Frankfurt and other foreign markets.

Treasury Secretary George Shultz said Friday August wholesale price figures would be "astounding", because of the sudden price spurt following the lifting of the price freeze.

According to Larry Goldstein of Drexel, Burnham & Co., lack of investor confidence still is holding the market back from a strong uptrend. "I can see the market continuing its downward pattern," he said, "until there is a decline—not just a peaking—in interest rates, and a sustained lessening of inflation."

He added, "Few believe the executive branch has control over the nation's economic destiny."

Leading the actives, General Electric fell 1¼ to 58⅝ on 448,700 shares, including a 329,000-share block at 58. CNA Financial was second, up ¼ to 11¼ on 161,600 shares, which included a 134,700-share block at 10¾. Federal National Mortgage was third, and rose ¼ to 18⅜ on 132,200 shares, including a 100,000-share package at 18¼.

Stocks of cigaret makers took sharp losses. Philip Morris dropped 2¾, and R. J. Reynolds 1¾. The Consumer Product Safety Commission is reported set to propose regulations that could mean a total or partial ban on cigaret sales.

Prices were mixed in slow trading on the American Stock Exchange. The Amex index closed unchanged at 22.81. Volume totaled 1,550,000 shares, compared with 1,570,000 Thursday.

KUNKLE COMMUNITY HALL
KUNKLE, PA.
(Just off Route 309 North of Wilkes-Barre and Dallas, Pa.) A pleasant scenic 60 to 75 minute ride from most of the Pocono area.

This week was an exciting one for us as we explored the old Mathewson Furniture Warehouse in Kingston, Pa. Opening up old barrels and boxes along with storage area untouched for forty years. A bit dusty but the thrill of discovery makes one forget the dust and cobwebs in your hair. The warehouse is scheduled for demolition and the owners have appointed us to sell all the antiques which have been abandoned here during the past half century because of failure to pay the rental charges. We are jammed to the rafters with a fascinating array of antique furniture and brica-brac at our KUNKLE, PA. SALES ROOM TO BE SOLD WITHOUT ANY RESERVE WHATSOEVER THIS SATURDAY NIGHT AT 7 P.M. For a small sample of what to expect in this antique jackpot:

Early American Spinning Wheel, Period Sheraton Dressing Commode, Tiger Maple Night Stand, Cherry Butler's Secretary, Brass Bed, Marble Top Chest, Fancy Victorian Walnut Hall Hat and Umbrella Stand, Ebonized Victorian Etagere, Round Oak Table, Victorian Love Seat, Tilt Top Tea Table, Abercrombie and Fritch Turn Of The Century Portable Bar in Style Of Tea Wagon, Beautiful Fruitwood Sofa Reupholstered in Crushed Velvet (never used) by Town and Country, a great choice of Rich Victorian Golden Oak Furniture including charming Block Front, Slant Drop Desk with Brass Gallery, Delightfully Carved Ornate Sideboard, Fancy Book Cases, Especially Fancy Dutch Cupboard, Wash Stands, etc.

Magnificent Blue Jasper Stilton Dome Covered Cheese Dish, Sterling Silver, Limoges Hand Painted Fish Set, Spode Service for 8 in Billingsley Rose Pattern, Beautiful Old Brilliant Cut Glass, Spanish Lace Rose Bowl, Early Victorian Britannia Complete Tea Service, Hobby Horse, Bisque Head Large Doll, Marble Top Table — You Name It, We'll Probably Have It, like six Splendid Antique Indian Rugs from Indian Suitable for Floor or Wall Hangings, a room size Karastan, etc. — Anyway we'll be working right up to sale time carting the goodies into Kunkle Hall.

RESERVATIONS FOR PREFERRED SEATING ARE DEFINITELY SUGGESTED FOR THIS ONE. CALL PENNSYLVANIA GALLERIES — (717) 825-5709.

DATSUN SAVES

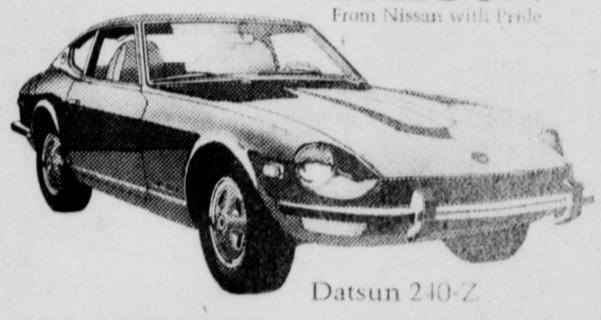

With a new kind of luxury.

Ah, the traditional sports car. Crisp shifts. Wind in the face... rain in the car. And the cost! It was a mixed blessing.

Our 240-Z has unmixed it. With around 20 miles per gallon economy. With inexpensive parts delivered fast by a nationwide computerized system. And with luxurious list of standard equipment: AM/FM with electric antenna, reclining seats, tinted glass and more.

The days of iron men, wooden frames and unlimited budgets are gone. We thought you'd like it that way.

Astrologer gazes ahead

By BRUCE POSTEN
Pocono Record Reporter

EFFORT — "Men at some time are masters of their fates: — The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars; — But to ourselves that we are underlings."

So wrote the famous Elizabethan poet and playwright, Shakespeare, in one of his first tragedies entitled "Julius Caesar." Perhaps, his poetry is one of the best comments on the subject of fate, free will and astrology.

In Shakespeare's time, most people probably believed in some form of astrology, where the stars, moons and planets were interconnected in a divine scheme that would predict and influence the course of human affairs.

Shakespeare's statement supporting free will was revolutionary. Fortunately for the Elizabethan sense of well being, the words of Cassius were contradicted and fate, for the most part, triumphed throughout the play.

Today, in our more rational, scientific and materialistc 20th Century, one would think the scoffers of astrology would greatly outnumber the believers.

Yet hundreds of newspapers continue to run a daily horoscope, astrology courses are being introduced in some of the more advanced colleges, astrologers publish best selling books and organizations such as the American Federation of Astrologers have gained national prominence along with a considerable public following.

One can only ask why such interest has grown over the years in a subject that emphasizes the irrational workings of fate over man's ability to exercise his free will. Is it just man's perverse curiosity causing all the hoopla?

Gloria Bruno, a former reporter for the Wall Street Journal, a professor who taught Comparative Literature in graduate schools at St. John's University, N.Y. and New York State University, a former employe of the United States State Department in the Soviet Union and a woman who knows Russian, Spanish and English, is also an astrologer.

She said she got interested seriously in astrology about five years ago and began to read and teach courses in the subject.

"Any person whose interest is suddenly activated has an aspect of Uranus, the planet that rules astrology, in his horoscope. I had an aspect of the sun to Uranus in the fall of '68. Suddenly, astrology became important to me," Miss Bruno said.

Miss Bruno, who currently lives in Gilbert, teaches classes in astrology, offers horoscopic analysis and will act as a consultant.

Although she explains her interest in astrology in the terms of her trade, her academic background lends an air of credibility to her more irrational beliefs.

For instance, Miss Bruno says it takes days and sometimes weeks for her to research and write up an individual's horoscope. In her work, she relies heavily on charts, maps, and some of the scientific tools of astronomy.

Mathematics plays an important role as she describes the significance of a star's position in relation to the earth or some other planet.

Miss Bruno said there were basically three types of astrologers: the commercial, research and esoteric. Most people she believes are more familiar with the commercial astrologer, whose claim to fame usually involves clairvoyance in predicting the future.

According to Miss Bruno, most people are not familiar with the research astrologer.

"Research astrologers have been used for years in the Soviet space program to plan take-offs and various space missions. Each cosmonaut has their horoscopic background analyzed and compiled to help in determining the safety or feasibility of a mission," she said.

Miss Bruno noted famous academicians who have shown faith in astrology including A.L. Tschijevsky, Moscow history professor; an Australian researcher and Carl Jung, an innovative deciple of Sigmund Freud.

Jung has written" suns and moons are compatible and can correspond with terrestial events without being causative."

Although this statement eliminates fate as the most important aspect of astrology, it still reasserts the belief in a similar pattern between human events and the movement of celestial bodies.

Miss Bruno, herself, believes that not everything is determined by an uncontrollable fate.

"I believe certain things are fated to happen, but man always has the free will to react to events in his own way," she said.

Some critics of astrology charge that the "free will to react" is nothing more than a subtle distinction in the modern astrologer's position that allows him to have the best of both arguments; namely free will and fate.

However, Miss Bruno is sincere in her belief in astrology and is striving to be more than just a research astrologer.

"An esoteric and spiritual astrologer is the best of the three types, because they can see the secret or hidden aspects of life," she said.

Using an iceberg as a metaphor for life, Miss Bruno said "only one tenth of the iceberg is revealed to us and in order to see the other nine tenths we must have a spiritual awakening."

She is optimistic in thinking man will reach a state of enlightenment by the Age of Aquarius of Age of Brotherhood.

She explained each astrological age is made up of 2100 years and is divided into three parts of 700 years. Miss Bruno said during the third part of each age an avitar is sent by the creator to introduce a new form of religion or concept of life.

"At the end of the current Piscean Age, all forms of knowledge which we have known will break down and new forms must take their place. Astrology and other subjects of a scientific nature will take their place primarily because many things science once considered non-material, they now find are indeed material," she said.

Miss Bruno also said the last 25 years of any century is quite important because several leaders and great thinkers appear on the earth.

She noted that at the end of the Arian Age such philosophers and leaders appeared as Plato, Socrates, Confucious and Jesus.

Miss Bruno is currently writing a book entitled "Esoteric Astrology," which can be used as a textbook in explaining the science of astrology.

She will also do a three page horoscopic analysis of any individual for $15 and a five page analysis for $25. She said it takes several days for her to research and write out a horoscope, so clients should not be in too much of a hurry.

In addition, Miss Bruno conducts classes in astrology

Collector's Corner

Small furniture gets write-up

By BEATRICE GARFIELD

Every now and then a book about collector's items appears which presents refreshing new material so thoroughly researched, intelligently organized and useful to collector's and dealers that it generates an entirely new collecting trend.

Antiquarians are familiar with books of this type: Wallace Nutting's' "Furniture Treasury," the McKearins' books on American glass; Ruth Webb Lee's several volumes about pattern glass; the Shaker furniture treatise by Edward and Faith Andrews and, more recently, Dr. Egon Neustadt's gorgeous volume on Tiffany lamps.

All these were pioneer works which enlightened and excited a multitude of collectors whose interest in the various subjects had, previously, been fairly mild.

The recently-published "Miniature Antique Furniture" by Herbert F. and Peter B. Schiffer is just such a book.

It was written by a noted father-and-son team from Exton, Pennsylvania whose contributions to the study of American antiques are impressive. Herbert Schiffer was a member of the staff at Henry Francis du Pont Winterthur Museum. Peter Schiffer, along with his work as an appriaiser of antiques, lectures at colleges in the field of Decorative Arts.

Collectors err, the authors inform us, in assuming that miniature furniture was made primarily as salesmen's samples.

Only a very small part of the enormous production, they assert, was made for such purposes. The vast majority of the pieces were fashioned primarily as furniture for the nursery (the little chairs exactly right for the toddler) or for luxurious doll-houses for rich children or — and this may surprise you — as trinkets for adults who used to delight in showing off tiny replicas of the beautiful furniture and art objects that enriched the rooms of their own palatial dwellings.

Miniature furniture, like all objects "in little," evokes a special feeling of tenderness on the part of the beholder. It is endowed with a charm not found on its standard-sized counterparts. Many of the dealers who acquire collections confess that they find it extremely difficult to part with them!

The Schiffer book is a rich, pictorial survey of the subject.

French farce, 'Nina," to close Tanglwood's summer theatre

TAFTON — The Tanglwood Dinner Theatre will present "Nina", a clever and entertaining French farce, from August 28 through September 2.

The play revolves around the age-old triangle: a wife, a husband and a lover.

Nina, the lady at the hub of this laugh provoking situation, will be played by Tanglwood favorites, Margaret Gwenver, whose earlier roles this summer included Dorothy in "Any Wednesday", Mme. Beaurevers in "Shot in the Dark" and Amanda in "Private Lives."

Charles Maggiore will play Gerard Depuis, a handsome bachelor-at-large and lover of Nina.

Design-Technics

Bargains include quality

SNYDERSVILLE — Bargain hunting is a tricky business. It takes a trained eye to distinguish a quality piece of merchandise from a hunk of trash.

Sam Rosen and his wife Lee are experts in judging quality home furnishings. They have to be, since it's their business to design and produce anything in ceramics from a tiny ashtray to a 20,000 foot sculptured wall.

Therefore, when the Rosens place ceramic pieces up for retail sale during the months of July and August, the selective consumer knows he is getting top quality merchandise.

Everything on sale at the workshop outlet of Design-Technics Ceramics, three miles south of Stroudsburg off Rte. 209, is surplus production from interior decorator orders and is offered to the public at one-third the original price or less.

Rosen explained his business is not primarily concerned with the retail trade, and does not ship products to retail outlet stores.

Instead, Design-Technics fills specific orders from interior decorators. Sculptured walls and hand-worked lamps are the shop's specialties.

"Our objects are not manufactured, they are designed," Rosen stated. "Everything has to meet the professional standards of architects and interior decorators."

Particular care is devoted to the use of materials in each piece to avoid the look of furnishings found in the average retail store.

"We use things artistically and aesthetically," Rosen said.

The name Design-Technics means art and know-how, he explained. Through careful experimentation his workers, under the direction of Mrs. Rosen, the company's chief designer, and ceramist Robert Ludwig, seek new technics.

Examples of technics might be the application of a glaze to achieve a certain artistic effect or producing a clay that can withstand frost.

Producing ceramic pieces with such care enables each item to have "enough variation to make it an indiviual piece," Rosen said.

A true connoisseur of home furnishings would recognize the artistic qualities found in the Design-Technics products, although Rosen admits "there are very few people who know true quality."

Nevertheless, for those people who take particular care in purchasing home furnishings and accessories, Design-Technics opens its doors to the retail trade through Labor Day.

The workshop outlet, located adjacent to the production building, is open daily except Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Ceramic pieces, either surplus or products which didn't perfectly meet the decorator's specifications, are offered for sale at a wide variety of price ranges.

Merchandise in the shop includes lamps, ash trays, bowls, hanging planters, candle holders, tables, urns, and vases.

The price reductions allow customers to purchase a $200 lamp, for example, for around $65.

The workshop outlet is an unusual opportunity for retail customers, Rosen explained. A showroom of the company's products in New York City is not open to the general public.

The retail business gives the general public a chance at a bargain.

Lone Pine

Ad lib and all that jazz

By JEFF WIDMER
Pocono Record Reporter

HENRYVILLE — Bass and drums lay down a constant meter. The piano keeps the key. Trumpet and bass rove until moving in tandem. They jump and burst, riding a toddering meter.

It's Monday night at the Lone Pine Inn, a club Barry Kimmel rented this June with the idea of providing the Poconos with jazz six nights a week.

Music director Jay Cameron says the club is unique in this area. It brings an urban sound from a place that can support it into a country atmosphere where the jazz cult is small.

"Jazz isn't as commercial or accessible as other forms of music," Cameron says.

Pianist Mike Melillo, who plays the club Tuesdays with his band In Free Association, says for this reason jazz needs additional support in this area.

"A lot of musicians are doing Jay a favor," he says, "by playing here for less money. If he didn't know so many musicians, he couldn't provide jazz six nights a week and break even."

Melillo sees evidence that a younger audience is turning to jazz, but wonders about the result.

"The trouble with coming to jazz from rock," he says, "is you have to be exposed to the best jazz to get a good orientation."

About 50 people comfortably fill the club, half in their mid twenties. They sit at small tables gathered around the stage and listen. Few talk while the band plays.

At the other end of the pine paneled room stands a bar worn by sweating glasses and sliding coins, and Jimmy the waiter.

He takes some time out from serving drinks to explain improvising.

"The musicians expand a tune," he says. "You never hear the same song played twice."

Jimmy is proud of the talent Cameron books. He tells of a night when Sonny Canterino, owner of the Half Note Club in New York City, came to the Lone Pine looking for talent.

Joe Farrell, a saxophonist and friend of Cameron from the Maynard Ferguson Orchestra, will perform tonight.

"One more thing," Cameron says. "The wives whose husbands like to listen to jazz shouldn't be afraid the Lone Pine is one of those bars with a women situation, you know."

Bruno quizzed on future economy, health

EFFORT — Gloria Bruno, an astrologer, teacher and writer, has offered to make some predictions and give information concerning astrology that will aid the generalist and entice the curious.

Her questions and answers have been edited primarily for reasons of limited space. The results are as follows:

Q. Do people ask you many questions about the economy?

A. Yes, they do and I am always happy to answer them but nobody believes you.

The same aspects that allowed the astronauts to go to the moon also signaled a major change in our economy. The stock market will continue to go down because humanity is now suffering from one of the universal sicknesses that follow when a law is broken.

Man has been told he must earn money by the sweat of his brow and not by investment. I predict in the not too distant future that we will return to the barter system.

It looks like inflation will continue to rise in the immediate future. Loosening of bank loan rates will come a little too late to really encourage new investment. And advantages to taxpaying property owners won't be large enough to notice.

Q. Can you make predictions in reference to health?

A. Yes, I believe there will be major reforms in all medical schools and hospitals.

The so called preventive medicine we've heard so much about the last twenty or thirty years will turn out to be the patient curing himself and eventually learning to prevent the illnesses he is susceptible to according to his horoscope.

At the present time we are only aware of manifested illness in the physical body, where it is terminal. Man will learn to eliminate it before it reaches the physical body.

Q. Will the Aquarian Age be a space age?

A. Very much so. Before 2100 years of the Aquarian Age is over we will think nothing of going from Mars to Venus or to a star such as Sirius. We will learn how to measure light in other densities than that of earth and travel will become almost instantaneous; there will be no such thing as light years.

This will do a great deal to enlarge man's consciousness, and his advance will really start when he realizes that he is only one of many kingdoms of the universe.

Man will also learn that he has an obligation to the Kingdom Above, the Kingdom of Heaven or Souls and to the one immediately below, the Animal Kingdom.

Q. How far ahead can you predict?

A. I do not think it serves any purpose to go any further ahead than the Capricorn Age which would take us 4,200 years ahead. At that time many wonderful things will be done within the earth itself.

Very shortly, however, the earth and the rest of the solar system will enter a new density in space which will immediately step up all vibrations. Those who have been primarily interested in the material world will find this increased acceleration hard to live with unless they can learn to love more.

We have passed that point in time where the individual is important; from now on only various groups will be of importance, with the most important being humanity itself.

Q. Since our health will change will our bodies also change?

A. Yes, the body will activate the third eye, above and between the eyebrows, and this will eventually enable us to see the electric energies as they enter the seven centers of the body.

This aura of the body is comparable to the atmosphere of the earth and eventually we will choose our President and other high officials by the amount of light in this aura. There will be no secrets.

The aristocracy of the future will be a spiritual aristocracy and citizens will be able to easily see who the good people are.

Q. Would you like to comment on the recent sightings of flying saucers in Saylorsburg?

A. Very much so, their entry on more than one occasion into the Poconos indicates that the people of the Universal Confederation who are entities from our solar system, other solar systems and galaxies, are appealing directly to the people of the Poconos for help.

Saylorsburg's flying saucers elicit predictions from Effort astrologer

Are we going to ignore them? Basis for membership in the Universal Confederation is the dedication of a civilization to the service it can render to those who need it. They are governed by people from their own population who have reached the greatest levels of awareness and attunement with the spirit of the infinite creator.

They are concerned with our continued indiscriminate use and experimentation with atomic energy. Their history shows that another planet in our solar system blew itself up with such devices by war between its people.

The atmosphere and its protective electrical fields, which shield our planet from conditions of outer space, are particularly vulnerable to these energies. By using atomic energies man is gradually destroying this protection. Outside influences, which will have a dramatic impact on our weather and other natural conditions, will continue to become more apparent as time passes.

Green fireballs and aerial devices frequently sighted in the vicinity of our atomic testing and manufacturing facilities, were manufactured from beings from other worlds and were dispatched to neutralize dangerous amounts of radiation in our atmosphere.

Those of us who are willing to work with these beings from outer space will see the new age. But we must choose the path of love and service and in so doing we will raise ourselves to a new level of consciousness. This level will be necessary for man if he is to continue to live and work on this planet.

Pocono summer scene enlivened with activity

STROUDSBURG — The Pocono Mountains will offer a wide range of activities to send off the summer and bring in the fall including art shows and country music concerts.

And for a bit of educational enjoyment there will be guided tours of the Lacawac Sanctuary, the famous Pinchot Institute in Milford and the Wayne County Historic Society and Museum.

A meet sponsored by members of the Pocono Regions of the Antique Automobile Club of America will also be held at the Stroudsburg High School athletic field tomorrow.

The club will display approximately 200 antique cars.

The Antique Auto Club recently held a car show at the Antoine Dutot School and Museum in Delaware Water Gap.

'Butterflies Are Free' at Pocono Playhouse

MOUNTAINHOME — At Pocono Playhouse, the week of August 27 through September 1 is bound to be an "I Love Vivian" week, when Vivian Vance stars in the hit comedy "Butterflies Are Free."

When "Butterflies" opened in New York, John Chapman of the Daily News hailed it as "a darling play, a lovely play. It is funny when it means to be, sentimental when it is so inclined and heart-warming."

It is about a blind young man who is living away from his strong protective mother for the first time. He meets a dippy-dame of a girl, and they are attached to each other.

Mother appears on the scene (stealing it in the process!) and tries to break it up, and the comedy takes off in a new and hilarious key.

Gary Tomlin plays the blind young man who is a cheerful young fellow whose other senses are sharp and perceptive. He can get around with complete assurance, and his handicap by no means prevents him from appreciating a pretty girl.

Erin Connor is his next-door neighbor in a walk-up in Greenwich Village. Her name is Jill, and she was once married to a man for six days and doesn't want, she thinks, any more "deep involvements."

Vivian Vance, of course, plays the mother, Mrs. Baker, who does not share the common human failing described by the expression "I wish I'd thought of saying that!" after the event.

Mrs. Baker has a devastatingly funny scriptwriter built into her mind, a mind like a steel trap but capable of sympathy as well as humor.

After several successful years on the Broadway stage in musicals and dramas, Miss Vance first received national recognition during her long association with Lucille Ball in both the "I Love Lucy" and "The Lucy" shoes. For her work in the latter she received an Emmy award.

Miss Vance last kept Pocono Playhouse patrons in stitches in the silver anniversary season of producer-manager Rowena Stevens in "My Daughter, Your Son" with Dody Goodman. She comes to the Poconos this summer from a tour of major summer theatres.

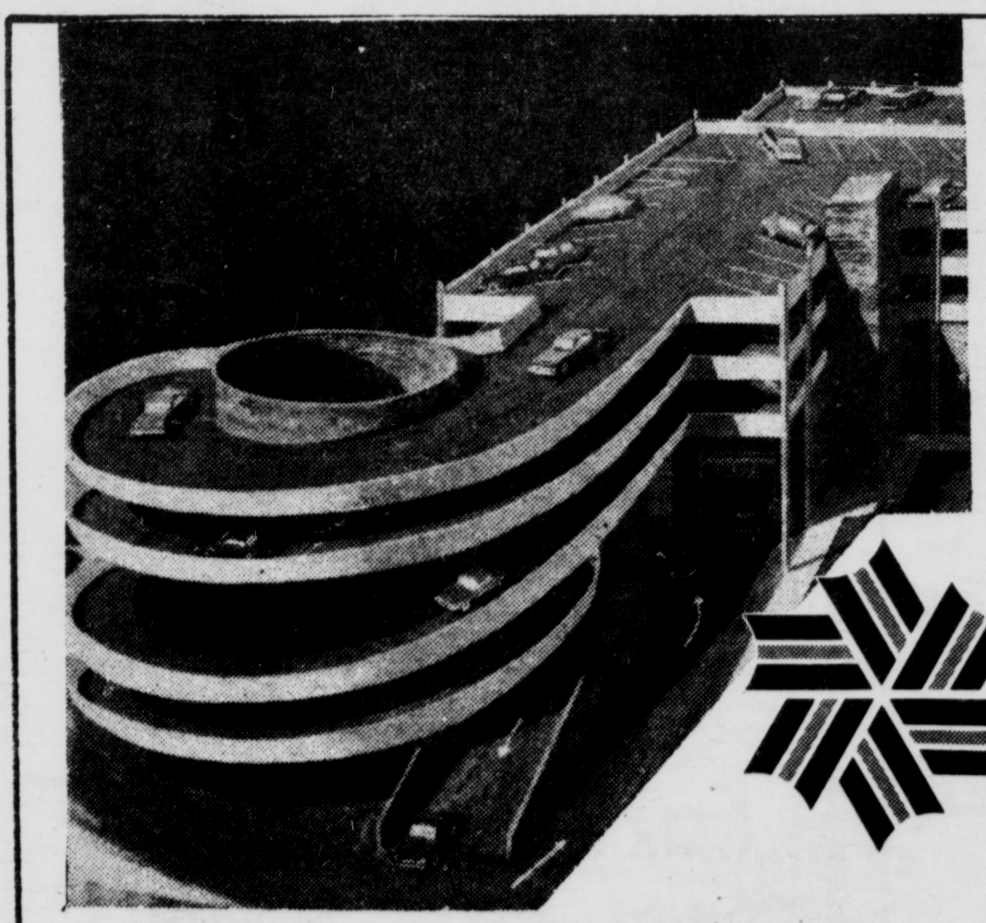

Gary Tomlin, who also played Miss Vance's son in that 1971 production, in addition to a role in '73 Broadway hit by Jean Kerr, "Finishing Touches", also currently plays Bruce Carson on CBS' "Search for Tomorrow."

Miss Connor, who was the understudy for the role of Jill in the Broadway production, this year won the coveted Straw Hat Award for the most promising newcomer for her portrayal of Jill in the Gloria Swanson tour of "Butterflies."

Weaving throughout Tolstoy's classic "War and Peace" is the romantic love story of Natasha Rostova (Ludmila Savelyeva, right). Caught in a foolish schoolgirl infatuation, Natasha risks everything for Anatole Kuragin (Vasily Lanovoi, center), brother of Helene (Irina Skobtseva) who intrigues to introduce the two young people. The mammoth Russian production will air on the ABC Television Network's "ABC Wide World of Entertainment" on four consecutive evenings, from Monday through Thursday, 11:30 p.m. to 1 a.m.
